Nixon Knows Russians Think Big

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Richard M. Nixon learned 13 years ago that the Russians like to talk big. That's probably because they live in a land of extremes, where the phrase "biggest in the world" is a commonplace.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, then premier, talked very big to the visiting vice president in 1959. He was intent upon convincing his visitor -- the highest - ranking American he'd met up to then -- of how the enormous and powerful Soviet Union, with its brand of socialism, was bound soon to leave the American economy and living standard far behind.

The Great Russian dominates the biggest national land area in all the world and commands immense wealth in natural riches. Possibly that's one of the troubles with East - West relations. The Soviet domestic economy continues to lag behind even small nations of the West decade after decade, and a visitor gets the impression that the combination of natural wealth, bigness and economic lag builds perhaps the biggest inferiority complex in the world.

How big is the Soviet Union?

You could tuck all Latin America inside the territory of the U.S.S.R. and still have room left over. It is bigger in area than the United States and China combined. It is, in fact, almost three times the size of the United States.

What is called the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics got the name in 1922. Moscow is celebrating the 50th anniversary jubilee now. Before that it had called itself Soviet Russia or the Soviet Republic. The original Bolshevik promise after Lenin's faction seized the Russian Revolution in 1917 had been self- determination for all peoples occupying what had been the huge empire of the Czars. Once in power, Bolshevik leaders had second thoughts.

There are, in fact, 100 district nationalities in the Soviet Union speaking a wide variety of languages and dialects. The major languages are Great Russian, Ukrainian, Byelorussian, Romanian, Finnish, Baltic tongues, Georgian and Central Asian ones akin to Turkic and Irian.

These people are dominated by the more than 130 million Great Russians who occupy the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic -- RSFSR-- that extends from the Gulf of Finland all the way to the Pacific.

In the 1970 census the Soviet Union found it had 242 million people in all, occupying an area that sprawls over much of two continents. It spans 11 of the world's 24 time zones and has frontiers of more than 10,000 miles. Its western frontiers are made up by Finland, Norway, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Hungary. In the East it is bounded by the Pacific Ocean and at the Bering Strait is only 35 miles from the United States at Alaska.

In the north it extends into the polar regions and in the south it is bounded by Afghanistan, Turkey, Iran, Outer Mongolia and China, sharing with the hostile Chinese the longest frontier in the world.

The Soviet Union, like Russia before it, has always been a land of superlatives. It has some of the coldest and some of the hottest climate. In the far north it can be as much as 95 degrees below zero and in some parts of Central Asia in the South it gets as hot in summer at 125 above.

The Soviet Union occupies a sixth of the total land surface of this earth and 17 per cent of the earth's inhabitable land. Much of the Artic is permafrost -- that is, land with permanently frozen ground beneath the surface -- and is uninhabitable. The permafrost area is as big as all the United States. A large sector of its Artic coast is tundra, made up of immense marshes frozen solid in winter and made unbearable and unliveable in summer by mosquitoes.

South of the permafrost area is the taiga, a majestically silent, densely forested area of spruce, pine, larch, birch, oak and many other trees rooted in spongy ground. About a third of the Soviet Union is covered by thick forests, making up a fifth of the world's forested areas. Thus, the taiga is a source of great wealth for the Soviet economy.

Beyond the taiga are the immense steppes. In America they would be called prairies. The steppes sweep all the way from Siberia to the edge of Europe in the Ukraine and have some of the world's most fertile soil, the storied black earth.

Most Soviet people are northerners. Moscow is on the same parallel as Sitka, Alaska. The Black Sea resort of Yalta is on the same latitude as Portland, Ore. The southernmost point of the Soviet Union would be on the latitude of San Francisco, but climatic conditions make the southern areas subtropical. The Soviet Union has huge areas of permanent snow in the north and huge areas of desert in the south.

The U.S.S.R. is a land of mighty rivers, the longest about same length as the Mississippi- Missouri. That is the great 3,500 - mile Yenesei in Siberia. The Volga meanders 2,300 miles north to south through European Russian and nourishes the soil. Mention of Matushka Volga -- Mother Volga -- can bring tears to the eyes of a Russian exile.

In all there are 200,000 miles of river in the U.S.S.R., about 70,000 of them free of ice sufficiently to be navigable. The magnificent rivers include such famed ones as the Dniepr, the Don, the Ob, the Angara, the Lena. The rivers make Moscow a busy inland shipping center calling itself "Port of Five Seas."

The U.S.S.R. is just about self-sufficient in natural resources. Its coal and iron reserves are among the world's greatest. It has plenty of oil, maganese, tin, copper, uranium, lead, zinc, gold, silver, nickel and bauxite and many rare precious metals as well as non-metal minerals.

All this expanse of territory and natural wealth is dominated by the Russian Republic. The RSFSR is only one of the 15 so-called Soviet republics, but Russians are in command everywhere. The 14 other republics, in order of population, are the Ukrainian, Kazakh, Uzbek, Byelorussian, Georgian, Azerbaijanian, Lithuanian, Moldavian, Latvian, Kirghiz, Tadjik, Armenian, Turkmen and Estonian.

The U.S.S.R. has a complicated - looking government structure in which administrative authority is held centrally by a council of ministers headed by a premier. Each republic in turn has its own council of ministers and premier on the same model. In addition to the republican governments, there are 19 "autonomous" republics, nine "autonomous" oblasts, or regions; 123 krais, or territories, and 10 national okrugs, or areas. The republics inturn have their own subordinate governmental structures in oblasts, krais and cities and towns.

But the top level of the Communist party calls all the shots and runs the whole show. Everything that is done is subject to the approval of the party's central authority in the Kremlin. There is a national legislature of two houses, calling itself the Supreme Soviet, but while Soviet citizens go through an elaborate process of secret balloting for single slate of prepicked candidates for that body, it has no power. The Supreme Soviet exists to stamp approval on whatever the Communist party decides and thus clothe those actions with legality.

10 Hurt On Semo Highways

Ten persons were injured Sunday in seven accidents on Southeast Missouri roads and highways, according to reports issued by the highway patrol.

Two rural Broseley juveniles were involved in a motorcycle mishap at 9:30 p.m. on a gravel road four miles southeast of Brosley. A passenger on the vehicle was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff with possible head injuries. The motorcycle struck loose gravel, ran into a ditch and the passenger was thrown off.

A single-car accident at 7:30 p.m. in Ripley County resulted in injuries to Marcella McMurty, 47, of Naylor Route One. She told authorities she had no idea what caused her car to run off the road. The accident occurred on Highway 142 two miles west of Naylor. The driver was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Joseph William Wiedefeld, 22, of Benton received minor injuries when he rounded a curve, ran his car off the road and went through a fence on Highway 61 one half mile south of Kelso. The mishap occurred at 6 p.m. Wiedefeld was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

In another one-car accident, Jerry Allen Moore, 20, of Lutesville Route Four received possible rib injuries and was treated at a Lutesville clinic and released. Moore said he came over a hilltop, applied brakes and lost control of his car. The vehicle ran off the road, struck a culvert, overturned and landed upside down. The accident occurred at 1 a.m. on Highway 34 two and one-half miles east of Marble Hill.

Four were injured at 1:45 p.m. 12 miles south of

Minibike Stolen From Porch

Cecil Carter, 410 West North St., reported to police Sunday that a minibike worth $179 had been stolen from his front porch sometime Sunday morning.

Carter told police that he saw a truck and a car parked in front of his house before he discovered the bike was missing. He said the truck appeared to have broken down. Wheel marks from the minibike led from the porch to the street, according to police. The investigation is continuing .

Highway 61 Work Is Half Complete

Road work on Highway 61 is about 50 per cent complete, Bill Shaw, District 10 engineer for the State Highway Department said today.

The highway is in the process of being widened and upgraded. Shaw said the work may be completed late this year.

Construction remaining to be done north of the railroad tracks includes widening the road and paving it.

South of the railroad tracks, curb and gutter work and paving of approaches to side roads and driveway entrances remains. Also, Shaw said, there is work to be done around the intersection of Highways 61 and 62.

Shaw said there will be more interruption of traffic with this work than in the past, because crews will be working in the most heavily traveled sections of the road.

He suggested that drivers use other streets to get to their destination whenever possible. He said this would make the job easier for the work crews and lessen the chance of accidents.

Candidates Take Target Practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican vice presidential candidates are getting in some target practice in advance of the official beginning of the election campaign.

And the new chairman of the Democratic party says the party's financial position is much improved for the 1972 campaign, although they still haven't figured out how to pay all of the multi-million dollar debt left from the 1968 campaign.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who was named Saturday by President Nixon as his running mate for November, criticized Democratic positions on amnesty, the draft and marijuana in a speech at Anchorage, Alaska Sunday.

He said voters will have a "clear voice" between candidates for the first time, adding, "It would be a tragedy if, after four years, the voters did not return Richard Nixon for another four years."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, went after Agnew in an appearance on ABC television's 'Issues and Answers" program, saying the Vice President "gets right down into the grassroots of a campaign, sometimes into the mud."

He said he would welcome a debate with Agnew.

Eagleton also indicated he has so far been rebuffed in attempts to meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany to try to win him to the Democratic side. But he held out the possibility that Meany still would take "a second look."

Jean Westwood, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told newsmen in Custer, S.D. that the 19-hour Democratic telethon earlier this month netted only about $1.5 million instead of the $5 million that had been forecast.

But she said the party is trying to pay off or settle as much of its $9.3 million debt as possible.

Of the total debt, $6.3 million is from the 1968 campaign. But Mrs. Westwood said the party is in much better shape now and the entire cost of the 1972 convention has been paid, along with all operating costs so far.

In other Sunday political developments:

—Sen. McGovern repeated on CBS' "Face the Nation" program an earlier declaration that, if elected, he would maintain U.S. military forces in Thailand and Southeast Asian waters until American prisoners of war are returned from North Vietnam. He also said he would take advantage of the Nixon administration's invitation for a Vietnam briefing.

Potashnick Construction Company and union officials of the Operator's Union held talks to determine the job status of several union men who staged a wildcat strike during the weekend. The men who participated in the strike are operators of the heavy machinery used to prepare the roadbed for what will be Interstate 55 in its final connection just south of Hayti. Talks will continue throughout today.

Supreme Court Asked To Rehear 16 Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court was asked today to rehear the cases of 16 prisoners who were removed from death row by its historic June 29 decision banning executions.

Prosecutors asked rehearing in 13 Georgia death sentence cases, 2 in Pennsylvania and 1 in Texas.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin requested a hearing in the case of Elmer Branch; Pennsylvania District Attorney Arlen Specter asked reconsideration of the cases of Anthony Soleri and Frank Phelan, and Georgia Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton filed in 13 cases.

Martin said in his brief filed with the court clerk that the Supreme Court's anti- execution ruling "constitutes a severe blow to the American jury system."

"The court has not ruled the death penalty unconstitutional per se, but instead has stricken down the legislative grant of the death penalty determination to the jury," Martin said.

Fire , Smoke Damage Local Home

Firemen were called at 5:20 p.m. Saturday to the Marshall Blackman home at 703 Pine St. when a fire broke out in the storage room attached to the carport.

The fire damaged the storage room and carport and caused smoke damage to the house, according to firemen.

Mrs. Blackman said today that no damage estimate was yet available.

The fire is believed to have started when Blackman threw a partially burned towel into the storage room. The towel had caught fire while he was barbecuing in his back yard. Blackman said he thought the towel had been extinquished before tossing it into the storage room. The towel then apparently ignited some flammable liquids kept in the storage room.

ART FOR CHIMPS

Artistic revolutions, like political ones, soon become Establishment and have to fight off challengers. Cuba's Castro has outlawed beards at Havana University, modernist artists have opposed the highly creative new realism, and so it goes.

When modernism was still revolutionary, it was said that the difference between its painting and sculpture was that one was hung on the wall. Art patrons, notoriously avant- garde, soon accepted it and we had, ho hum, a new Establishment.

Well, modernism is now having a tough fight. Resurgent realism, competent, relevant to nature and life, poetic and certainly imaginative is shaking the art world.

Realism is reviving not strictly on its own merits. Moderism, said New York Times art critic John Canaday, with its "cult of the new for the sake of the new has finally reached bottom." He added: "The bottom is a void."

Too often, modernism attempted instant genius. Radical chic patrons fawned over an artist who , for example, invited them to watch him dig a hole in Central Park. The avant-garde crowd loved that one. Critics said that they did not know art from a hole in the ground.

Stunts such as this indicate that modernism is depleting itself and resorting to what the cynical Austrian playwright Handke calls "Beschimpfung." That is, treating the public like chimpanzees.

A London newspaper called the Royal Academy's recent modernist show "perposterous," and "silly." Other critics include John Simon, in New York magazine, who said modernism "is a swinish imposter." Hilton Kramer predicts a "new wave of realist innovation."

Abstract art's liminations have led to dead end. It will soon relinquish its entrenched position.

The chief competitors of the small city retailer are not other local merchants. His most serious competition comes from nearby metropolitan centers.

Small city retailers may rightly maintain that local people are foolish to leave their hometown to shop in metropolitan centers. Little is gained and much is often lost to the shopper and his community as a result of out-of-town shopping.

Prices on standard brands are virtually the same regardless of the locality of retail stores. Special sales in most small cities are just as attractive as they are in the larger trade centers. Often the small city retailer has a pricing advantage because of low overhead costs.

Why, then, do so many shoppers travel fifty or a hundred miles to buy the same items they could obtain at home for the same price? Many retailers who ask this question should look to themselves to find the blame. Inadequate advertising is likely to be the answer.

Certainly local people do not leave town to buy because of a grudge against local merchants. In fact, many of those who do distant shopping are themselves local retailers.

In most cases where out- of-town buying occurs, the cause may be traced to a lack of information about the local market, as compared to detailed information the public obtains concerning the metropolitan stores.

State and regional newspapers come into every small city in the nation. These newspapers are loaded with complete advertising of the large stores of metropolitan centers. This is real competition for the local merchant.

MILE MARKERS MEAN SAFER MOTORING FOR OHIOANS

Reflectorized highway mile markers are the latest safety boon for Ohio motorists.

The Ohio Department of Highways soon will be installing the identifying markets at one mile intervals along all rural highways and through smaller villages. The most heavily traveled routes will receive the markers first.

Long recognized as a major highway safety aid because of their greatly increased visibility, the reflectorized markers will serve the double duty of pinpointing accident locations with much greater accuracy.

The mile markers also will make it easier for highway computer systems to digest the accident information and thus help in classifying and solving road problems.

For instance, officers now are usually limited to identifying accident locations by recognized geographic landmarks – "two miles west of county road 33, etc."

Using the reflectorized mile marker, officers will never be more than a half mile from one, in either direction, and can use their cruiser odometers to find the accident scene.

Highway safety people think, too, that the markers will save lives in that emergency vehicles will be able to get to accident scenes much more quickly.

Nor will the markers in themselves constitute a hazard. According to Fred Kaiser, Ohio highway engineer, the markers will be placed on thin metal poles just off the road edge which will bend easily if struck by a vehicle.

The markers will be installed on both sides of divided highways and on one side of two lane roads but will contain information on both sides.

The state of Pennsylvania, which also has installed the markers, places them 500 feet apart, but Ohio authorities think the one mile interval is sufficient.

Some engineers are thinking of marking county and township roads, and even city streets. On city streets, the house number may be sufficient but Ohio highway people say the county roads may be marked also, after the highway posting is finished.

NO PUBLIC WELFARE FOR STRIKERS

There is no acceptable reason why persons on strike should receive public welfare.

And yet it is estimated strikers will receive $308 million in welfare in 1973 — $238 million of which comes from the food stamp program.

Union members argue they are entitled to welfare benefits when they go on strike for the following principle reasons:

They pay taxes and are entitled to benefits from the tax-supported welfare program.

Need should be the sole criterion.

It would be inhumane to permit children to go hungry because their breadwinning parent is on strike.

Companies continue to receive government subsidies even during strikes and therefore it is only fair that unions and union members be given the same consideration.

What all of these arguments overlook is the fact that the strikers voluntarily leave their jobs. The need that results is of their own making.

The fact that they pay taxes should not entitle them to special benefits from funds that are appropriated for persons who are in need for reasons beyond their own control.

Subsidies received by companies from the government during a strike have no relation to the strike. They were awarded for various ecomonic reasons before the strike and simply are continued during the strike. It would be unjust to suspend such aid because employes walked out.

The federal government and states should stop subsidizing strikers with welfare funds. It is a gross misuse of tax money and gives strikers an unfair advantage over businesses in a prolonged strike.

At a time when everyone is concerned about the high cost of welfare, this is an unnecessary expense that should be eliminated.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you were a bird, a summer heat wave would be no sweat. Neither would winter's chilling blasts. Birds have no sweat glands. They keep cool by special air sacs and by opening their beaks and vibrating the sides of their throats.

How does a man get to heaven? A country preacher once said there was a tie vote the day the first man was born. The Lord voted for him and Satan voted against him. It is then up to the man how he breaks the tie: for he votes with the Lord or with Satan by the kind of life he leads.

A check doesn't have to be the conventional size unless the law says it does, and in most places the law isn't specific. Checks have been honored that were inscribed on blocks of marble, roof shingles, skis, bottle labels or whitewashed on the side of a cow. McGOVERN: TWO VIEWS FROM BRITAIN

The democratic world must face up to the bare possibility and the consequences, so far as it is concerned, of McGovernment in Washington.

The very champion and pillar of democracy would be shown to be chronically debilitated by the social and political diseases that are undermining the Western way of life everywhere. Wishful thinking would become a State religion, with the President as its High Priest. The repercussions of the economic consequences for America of the proposed wealth share- out and other measures would be bad enough. The results for security and the balance of power would be appalling. Mr. McGovern's promise to withdraw from Vietnam unconditionally within three months will probably already have been made superfluous by Mr. Nixon's wiser efforts, although Hanoi might be tempted to fight on in the hope of an American surrender. It is madness for Mr. McGovern to undertake to cut American forces in Europe by two- thirds and her defense budget by half without any reference to what Russia is doing. We cannot believe that things are really so rotten in the United States of America. — The Daily Telegraph

The American policical system would not allow him (Senator McGovern) to be the wild radical that Republican propaganda is making him out to be. He has, however, a radical domestic program and a foreign policy which includes withdrawing half the American forces stationed in Europe. McGovern is not the only Democratic leader who has been pressing for a reduction of United States troops in Europe. It is something which a United Europe must learn to live with and meet by preparing to take on more responsibility for its own defense. The importance of Mr. McGovern is his concern with domestic reforms. These can be as important for Europe as Mr. Nixon's foreign policy. For a United States which ignores the need for change at home is never going to be a stable society and will remain vulnerable to the civil unrest which wracked it in the late 1960's. Mr. McGovern may not have the fright solutions, but at least he sees the need for reform. To that extent his election is needed in the United States. — The Guardian

PRESERVING THE MEANING

People sometimes get impatient with the "Checks-and-balances" system of government. But, time after time, it has proven its worth. A recent instance of this was the near hysterical pressure for gun control legislation following the tragic assassinations in the months before the last presidential election.

In the emotional uproar, millions of law-abiding citizens and their spokesmen were virtually thrown into the same kettle with professional criminals by advocates of police state regulation of guns. The National Rifle Association, for nearly 100 years a staunch supporter of law, order and the right of citizen gun ownership, was subjected to a campaign of vilification that has few parallels. This happened partly because there was little public knowledge of the great accomplishments of the NRA in safety, police training, conservation and other fields. But, in spite of the hysteria, the worst features of proposed gun controls were bypassed in the deliberations of Congress. There is greater recognition of the fact that it is criminals that need controlling more than guns. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has proposed an amendment to the Gun Control Act of 1968. It provides that those using a firearm to commit a crime shall receive a mandatory penalty of 10 years in prison for a first offense and 25 years for conviction of a second offense.

President Nixon, in advocating both federal and state legislation, has state,"... Congress should consider immediate legislation providing for a mandatory prison term of substantial duration for any felon who uses a firearm in the commission of a serious federal crime. The fifty states should consider action along identical lines..."

We should give thanks for the delays built into our representative form of government ...for the "checks and balances." It takes a little time to find the path of reason leading to policies that will correct abuses and still not destroy the substance of personal responsibility and freedom that give meaning to the very existence of this nation.

PITY THE LICENSE CLERKS

Our sympathy goes out to the clerks who issue drivers licenses in Missouri.

Beginning July 1, which is Saturday they'll have to take a color picture of every applicant so it can be put on the license card. If we've learned anything over fifty years of picture taking, it is that many people are never satisfied with what a photo makes them look like. Most of us think we couldn't possibly look that horrible or that old, or that thin or that fat. If retakes are permitted, which we doubt, our license clerks are in for a siege of long hours and considerable argument or in any event, the arguments.

The new law is okay, but we do wonder how it will help identify those who change their hair color or wig every week or so.

PART OF MULTIPLE USE

Many people do not know the meaning of conservation as practiced under multiple use of forest lands. An article in "Pacific Business" by a spokesman for the American Forest Institute reveals how multiple use works as practiced by timber producing companies.

Throughout the nation, 234 companies operate nearly 66 million acres of timber producing land. Virtually all of this land is open to the public for recreational use. In California alone, 24 timber companies keep 3.8 million acres of timberland open to nearly every type of public recreation. In total, nearly 8,000 miles of forest access roads and nearly 1,000 miles of hiking trails on privately-owned forest lands are available to the public. The road networks provide access for thousands of hunters and fishermen each year. Private forest lands in California, as well as elsewhere, fill a substantial recreation gap not accommodated by state or federal agencies. This is the recreation side of the multiple-use coin.

These millions of acres of private forest lands also represent taxable private enterprise. Private enterprise is responsible for seeing that timber is produced to meet U. S. housing goals, as well as soaring public demand for an ever-increasing variety of forest products that require the cutting of trees. Multiple land use is the only answer if we wish to live and enjoy ourselves at the same time.

EVIL HEROIN

Defenders of Red China keep trying to cloud the facts about Red China's heroin pushing in the U.S. A White House memo was reported circulated to Congressmen suggesting that charges against Red China were being promoted by friends of Chiang Kai-shek and that the Turks and others are the real culprits in the heroin trade.

Well, Turkey has harvested its last poppy crop, from which heroin is made. The crop is no longer legal there. Poppies, however, are a major crop in Red China and it is not a "private enterprise" crop. It is a communist government crop, just like all major activity in Red China.

U.S. Marine Corps General Lewis Walt, recently retired as assistant commandant, is working with Senator James Eastland (D- Miss.) collecting information about drug traffic. Concerned citizens could do well in writing letters to the editor and to the Congress urging public hearings on the heroin traffic. Then it will be more difficult to hide the truth about this communist plot to subvert U.S. servicemen abroad and young people here at home.

Red Chinese heroin has been seized in New York and Chicago in huge amounts but you don't hear much about it in the national news media. Only a few enterprising newspapers emphasize these facts. Three Peking agents were nabbed in Chicago with heroin samples worth $100,000 along with revolutionary propaganda intended for distribution on Midwest college campuses. In New York, $2million worth of Red Chinese heroin was seized. Let's expose the truth about Red China and heroin. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- The Pakistani government is shopping in the United States for torture devices for breaking down suspects and brainwashing prisoners.

The Pakistanis would also like to procure "technical equipment" for bugging rooms, tapping telephones, taking clandestine pictures and writing secret messages in invisible ink.

It is suspected -- but can't be stated positively -- that the money for the torture and tapping devices will come out of U.S. aid funds.

Colonel Khan Ahmed Shamshad, the Pakistani army attache in Washington, has been circulating a bizarre shopping list of 17 items.

High on the list is "electric shock pulses equipment, time one second to ten seconds, for use in interrogation of suspects to break them for interrogation."

Next on the list are "interrogations powerful lights" and "color changer on the lights" for "brainwashing of suspects."

The Pakistanis are also seeking tape recorders "for tape recording of unguarded conversation" and a small camera "for unobtrusive photography."

"Static intercepting devices" are wanted "to intercept unguarded conversations" plus hidden infra-red cameras "for unobtrusive photography."

"for unguarded photography" and an audio interceptor "to intercept conversations on telephone."

SPY TOOLS

For the use presumably of Pakistani spies, Colonel Khan would also like to buy an invisible ink kit "for invisible writing and detecting invisible writing."

We carefully verified the authenticity of the amazing procurement list. Then we called Colonel Khan for his comment.

"I don't know what to say," he spluttered. "This is, of course, an internal thing. I can only say this much: Your reading -- I would agree with that -- but it is not with any ulterior motives."

He suggested that "every government" uses torture and tapping equipment. His strange shopping list, he added, "is just an inquiry."

But he submitted the list to one arms dealer, Aviterra Corporation of Bethesda, Md., with a letter declaring: "We are interested to procure the equipment as per list attached. Before placing a firm order as to the procurement of equipment, we would like to have the technical literature for study and evaluation."

The firm's president, Horst Kleinsorg, happens to be a German who had done business with the Pakistanis but who has bitter memories of Adolf Hitler.

"Just by reading the list," he replied to Colonel Khan, "I feel certain memories back when I was a child in Germany and unfortunately was a witness when this material was at the disposal of people like the ones requesting it now. . . .

"Instead of spending money for this type of equipment, it is, in my opinion, more appropriate to take these funds and feed little children in the slums of Karachi and Lahore. If you feed them now, you don't have to interrogate them later."

SLUSH FUND

One of the nation's largest banks, the Crocker National Bank of California, has been hitting up its executives for campaign contributions.

In a stuffy letter to its high-level employees, bank chairman Emmett Solomon urged them to make contributions to the "Robert M. Pike Trustee Fund." As it turns out, the fund is named for the bank's corporate secretary and is a slush fund for the bank's favorite political candidates.

"Contributions to the Fund are entirely voluntary," says Solomon's letter, which then pointedly suggests that contributions should be "equal to one-half of one per cent of your gross annual salary."

When we queried Crocker Vice President Donald White about the slush fund, he said it was terminated after new recent federal laws required that contributors' name be made public. Nevertheless, he confirmed that "tens of thousands" of dollars had been handed out to the banks' backslapping buddies during the fund's lifetime.

DENHOLM'S OFFICE

Representative Frank Denholm, the freshman Democrat from South Dakota, operates a district office in Brookings, S.D., that costs the taxpayers $200 a month rent. Since Denholm and his wife now own the building, they are collecting most of the money.

What's more, the congressman has named an old friend, real estate man Arthur Anderson, as his $29,000-a-year administrative assistant.

Anderson, however, has yet to take up residence in Washington and his picture still appears in ads for his real estate firm in South Dakota.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

New Derring Duo:

Ted Kennedy - George Meany Coalition To Campaign for Congressional Control

WASHINGTON---It is accepted as fact in the most rarified labor circles that Ted Kennedy positively told George Meany he was "ready and primed" to fight George McGovern for the Presidential nomination if the union high command could prevent a first-ballot Dakotan win. Meany promised to make the fight. He kept his word despite the defection of Minnesota's melancholy man, Hubert Humphrey.

Thus there were three seasons for the seemingly futile Scoop Jackson defiance of McGovern's machine--to attempt to stall the nomination; to keep Gov. George Wallace from being the runner-up; and to prove there is a centrist movement inside the Democratic party.

Thus the past is prelude. Meany soldered labor's alliance with Kennedy to hold the center. You can believe it. Ted Kennedy has as little use for McGovern as his tragic brothers had for Lyndon Johnson. Ted Kennedy has been known to say he would have taken on the Dakotan but did not want to unloose "the bloodletting Bobby did when he openly fought (Gene) McCarthy."

To Meany, the Kennedy alliance is a powerful political weapon. It can control the Congress. And the AFL-CIO's cagey curmudgeon began driving right on through, regardless of who was on the course, not five minutes after the press, electronic and print, left the national AFL-CIO headquarters here Wednesday.

Meany appointed a tough Senatorial Campaign Committee chaired by the Maritime Trades Dept. chief Paul Hall, easily as astute a student of power plays and organization as McGovern's still anonymous brain-trusters. Coordinating with Hall on the unique labor action front are the Steelworkers' chief I. W. Abel, the Iron Workers' John Lyons, Pete Bommarito of the Rubber Workers and the Service Employees' George Hardy.

This is a formidable offensive lineup. Theirs is the key play. It would take merely a shift in five Senate seats to give President Nixon, should he win, control of the upper house. And a shift of 22 House seats would throw it to the Republicans. Labor's not neutral on this one. Meany has said, "We can live with Nixon," but there's no neutrality in the Congressional fight – especially when labor wins such Senate battles as the minimum wage count Thursday by one vote --47 to 46.

Here is the basic issue. Naturally it is lost in the living color turbulence of political coverage. For the moment only a handful of political sophisticates are watching Congress while the rest of the nation gapes at Custer's (S.D.) No.1 citizen's last stand.

Labor chiefs and their opponents are lining up for tough battles in the next session. Critical Senators want a compulsory arbitration act to prevent national steel and auto strikes as well as those on the railroads.

Sen. Tower wants the Davis- Bacon Act repealed. This is the law which is the backbone of the building and construction trades unions' demand for $10- and $15-an-hour wage fringe payments. Sen. Fanning is fighting for restrictions on the use of labor funds in politics. And he wants the National Labor Relations Board revamped. A powerful management movement, ardently claiming the pendulum has swung and its rights now being trampled, wants a series of "labor Law reforms" including the creation of a labor court system.

Meany and his colleagues, be they pro- Nixon or McGovern, find such proposals as anathematic as the new pot politics. Labor chiefs were relieved when they learned from this column, a week before it was officially announced, theat President Nixon would withdraw his Crippling Strikes Prevention Act proposal. But they don't trust the critical Congressmen to take the cue from Mr. Nixon.

So the mammoth labor political machine, COPE (Committee on Political Education), hurtled into action Wednesday afternoon. Thursday the AFL-CIO mailed letters to its 51 state federations (including Puerto Rico) and 738 City Central Labor Councils warning them not to endorse or spend a penny on either Presidential candidate -- but to get started on the Congressional campaigns. This is mandatory under the AFL-CIO's constitution.

"We are immediately reevaluating all Senate and House races," said one of the handful close to Meany. "There will be special emphasis on marginal Congressional elections -- those won or lost by our friends by 5 per cent. Of course, the whole Executive Council still is opposed to Republican control of the Congress. We will back some Republicans, but there's no doubt that we'll be overwhelmingly for the Democrats. This has nothing to do with our Presidential neutrality."

It will be difficult to fight for candidates from below. But with Ted Kennedy as an improvised top man, the alliance could win a fight for control – or at least to hold what it has. Thus we are past the prelude.

Bond In Court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The question of whether state Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond has lived in Missouri long enough to run for governor goes before the state Suprem Court this afternoon.

The court will hear the contentions of both sides and likely will not hear any testimony before Tuesday. Today's hearing is to more or less set the groundwork, says Court Clerk Tom Simon.

A suit by state Rep. R. J. "Bus" King, R-Clayton, contends Bond should be removed as a candidate for the Republican nomination in the governor's race because he lived outside the state from 1960-68. King also seeks the GOP nomination.

Bond has not denied living outside the state and contends that voting residency is what counts and that he has never voted outside the state.

King's suit does not mention Bond's qualifications as state auditor. He was elected to that position in 1970.

Bond, King and another GOP gubernatorial candidate, Gene McNary of St. Louis, appeared toggether Sunday at a picnic at Creve Coeur Park.

King said that if he had not raised the issue of Bond's residency now, a Democrat would just before the November general election.

King said the Republicans' best chances in November lie in uniting behind the primary choice and running a race "uncluttered by vulnerability to attacks from the Democrats."

Revenue Sharing Bad For State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., estimated today that Missouri would come out on the short end of a 76-100 ratio if the Nixon administration's revenue sharing plan is enacted.

The Missouri Senator released figures which indicated state and local governments in Missouri would get only $107.5 million while its residents were paying $140.5 million in personal income taxes.

The revenue sharing plan has passed the House and is in the Senate Finance Committee.

In another comparison, the senator said Missourians pay 2.67 per cent of all personal income taxes collected by the federal government, but the state's share of revenue sharing would be only 2.03 per cent.

Symington said he has asked the Senate committee to re-examine the basic concept of revenue sharing and the distribution formulas in the House bill.

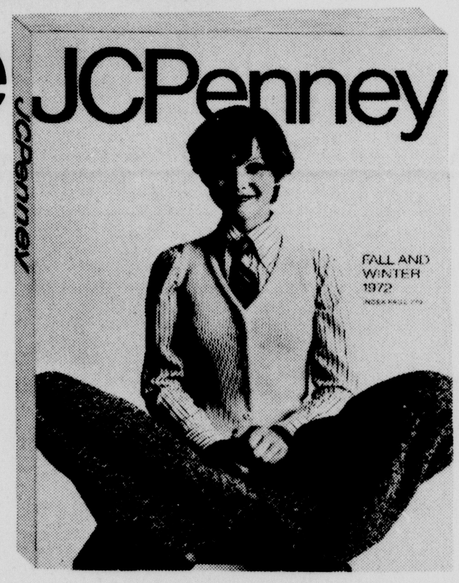
The values are here every day.

Our new catalog, and what the other catalogs hope you never find out about us.



Long before consumerism was invented, we've had a thing about highest quality at lowest prices.

It's the only way we've operated since James Cash Penney opened his first Golden Rule Store back in 1902.

But giving you a bigger dollar's worth isn't the only reason there are now almost seventeen hundred JCPenney stores. Or why we've suddenly become America's fastest growing catalog.

What really sets us apart is people. Experts with years of experience who make the decisions on each of the hundred thousand things we offer. Even the slightest doubt about any item is enough to get it shipped to our Test Center. There the standards are so tough some of the big name national brands would have trouble getting an O.K.

Everything you'd expect in a great catalog is in our catalog. Furniture, drapery, bedding, fashions—including hard-to-find extra sizes. But you'll also discover a lot of things you didn't expect. A home gymnasium. A complete wine making kit. An outdoor waterfall. A fisherman's depth finder. An electric organ. Pages of creative crafts. And much more.

And, of course, you can use your JCPenney Charge on any order. If you don't have one, take a few moments to fill out an application when you pick up your free catalog.

Once your order is received, we really go to work. We check and double check to make sure you get exactly what you want, and that it gets to you the way you want it.

Fashions, for instance, are never packed in advance. We keep them on hangers until the very last minute. Then we rush them right out to you.

What's more, all of our items are fully described. We try to anticipate everything you could possibly want to know. About the product. The price. The guarantee.

Having our new Fall/Winter Catalog is like having a great store at your fingertips. And all you have to do to order is pick up your telephone.

So, now that you've found out what the other catalogs hoped you wouldn't, why not go a step further. Order something from our catalog. Preferably, something you'd normally order from another catalog. That way, you'll find out fast whether we're as good as we say.

Dissent Arises Among Ranks of Women's Lib

NEW YORK (AP) — Feminist Betty Friedan, who predicted a male blacklash as the result of female chauvinism in the woman's liberation movement, has run into a backlash of her own.

"This seems to be a case of hell has no fury like a woman scorned in the women's movement," said Olga Madar, a vice president of the United Auto Workers and a member of the policy council of the National Woman's Political Caucus.

Miss Madar was one of many women who sprang to the defense of Gloria Steinem and Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., when Mrs. Friedan singled them out as "female chauvinist boors," antimale and part of an ideological split within the feminist movement.

Miss Steinem and Mrs. Abzug were restrained in their reaction to Mrs. Friedan's magazine article and news conference Tuesday until it became clear that word of the so-called split made headlines. In increasingly stronger terms, Miss Steinem and Mrs. Abzug offered their rebuttals.

"I think it is not honest of me to say there are not disagreements. There are." said Miss Steinem. "It's worse that women think there is some big philosophical split than that they understand the real problem with one person. Of course there are tactical differences but we also work together.

"But an individual who has delusions of inventing and downing the movement is bound to attack other women who raise their heads. Philosophy has nothing to do with it."

Mrs. Abzug described the article as "theoetically inaccurate and factually wrong and subjective, sensationalist literary projection."

"Many people have fantasies," she said. "But few write them down."

Mrs. Friedan, author of "The Feminine Mystique" and a founder of the National Organization for Women, criticized feminists who portray women as super virtuous and man as the enemy.

"We didn't start out at the same place, it would be a miracle if we ended up at the same place," she said.

Ann Landers

"Real Man" Appreciated

Dear Ann Landers: I loved your definition of "a real man" -- and I was glad to hear you say you are married to one. I am, too, and I'd like to tell you what I like best about my husband.

It's the way he gets down on the floor and plays with the kids, his big hands cradling their little heads as he helps them do somersaults. Or when he stays with the children for an evening so I can go someplace. And when I come home I see the clumsy but tender way he has put on the baby's diaper and his little undershirt, backwards.

I adore it when he comes into the kitchen and follows me around and talks to me while I'm putting the final touches on supper --- telling me about his day, yakking a mile a minute and sharing a part of his life that I don't see.

I love the way he comes with me to PTA meetings even though there are only three or four other daddies there.

I appreciate his kindness to my parents. He is generous, thoughtful and sweet to them.

Above all, Ann, he makes me feel like a real woman. And I guess that's what makes him a real man. -- Big Jim's Wife

Dear Wife: It's a joy to receive a letter like yours in the midst of the thousands of gripes from women who are full of complaints -- many justified, I'm sure. Thanks for the day- brightener. Jim sounds like a gem. And so do you.

Dear Ann Landers: If I'm a nut on the subject, so be it, but I get wild when I read such stories in the newspapers as these (they all appeared within the past month):

"Two-year-old falls off a balcony while watching a basketball game."

"Year - old tot tumbles out of grocery cart and is seriously injured."

"Four-year-old drowns in bathtub."

"Toddler in serious condition after drinking cleaning fluid."

"Youngster found at bottom of pool. Two lifeguards on duty. No one saw that the child was in trouble."

Tot suffocates in car while parents shopped for three hours."

"Five-year-old dies after eating 40 pills found in grandmother's purse."

"Child of 18 months killed on road in front of aunt's home."

In every single instance, somebody was not doing his job. I know the heartache and agony that such accidents can cause parents, grandparents or whoever was supposed to be in charge -- but it doesn't change things. Nothing is so important as keeping an eye on children.

What's a baby doing in a grocery cart, or at a basketball game, or out playing in the road? What are cleaning fluid and pills doing where a child can get his hands on them? Why is a youngster left in a locked car or in a bathtub?

Please, Ann, print this letter and let's hope and pray that every parent who reads it will ask himself, "Could any of these tragedies have occurred in MY family this past year?" -- Midwest Plea

Dear Midwest: Here is your letter, and my thanks for writing it. It's full of common sense and good questions --- and if it shakes up a few million mothers, I'm for that, too.

Are you, or someone you care about messing around with drugs --- or considering it? Are all drugs bad? What about pot -- in moderation? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs," separates the facts from the fiction. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cent postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346 , Chicago, Ill. 60654.

AS AN UNDERCOVER 'AMERICAN TOURIST' IN IRELAND COL:' STEVE CANYON SEE MANY THINGS -- EVEN SOME STARS!

Sent to Northern Ireland on a mysterious mission, Steve and Summer Canyon are to pose as tourists while awaiting instructions from an unidentified contact.

They find it difficult to convince the local residents of Ulster they have picked this time of strife to visit the area solely to enjoy the beauty of the countryside.

But Steve finds it even more difficult to assure Summer that it is just a coincidence when they meet Mew Hasty, a WAF in the British military unit posted to Ulster --

A GIRL WHO KNEW STEVE WHEN HE WAS A BACHELOR

Summer loses her cool in the presence of this worldly female who has obviously been a close friend of her husband. The triangle almost reaches the un-diplomatic stage when the Canyons' contact is revealed -- and the full impact of their undercover task becomes apparent.

Millions Kicked Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has kicked back hundreds of millions of dollars to South Vietnam, South Korea and Cambodia for military purposes out of funds those countries paid under the U.S. Food for Peace program.

There was nothing illegal about the transactions, which were revealed in a White House report. The kickbacks were in local currencies.

South Vietnam received $742.7 million through 1971 for military purposes out of $919.8 million it paid for U.S. foodstuffs under the program. South Korea has received $593.1 million out of $752.2 million, and Cambodia, which has only been in the program a year, received $7.4 million.

The kickback arrangement was authorized in the Food for Peace law. It allows that local currencies received under the Food for Peace program can be returned by the U.S. for "common defense" purposes.

The arrangement for use of local currency was ended last year, although grants can continue to Vietnam and Cambodia out of funds generated under credit agreements, the report said.

Out of $12.9 billion in total aid under Food for Peace since 1954, more than $1.7 billion has been spent on "common defense" arrangements.

Sunshine Hearing Tomorrow

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A hearing on an attempt to have the secretary of state accept the open meetings, or "sunshine" petitions was scheduled to begin Tuesday afternoon in Cole County Circuit Court and a judge said he erred in listing the hearinging for today.

The secretary of state said Friday he was told the hearing would be today, and judge James T. Riley's secretary said this morning it would be today.

But the judge checked his original order, said "I goofed," and gave the secretary of state another day in which to prepare his response to the Citizens Lobby suit.

The secretary of state's office also was scheduled to be represented at 2 p.m., only a half hour after the sunshine case, in the Supreme Court hearing on a suit challenging the residency of state Auditor Christopher Bond.

Carl Wilson of Kansas City, chairman of the Citizens Lobby, seeks to have the petitions accepted or return to him. The secretary of state's office keeps all petitions when they are submitted.

The petitions seek a November vote on a constitutional amendment that would require all public bodies to have open meetings and to keep their records open.

A similar measure failed in the last legislature and the bill is expected to be reintroduced again in December at the next general session.

The sunshine petitions fell short of having the required 15,600 signatures from the 7th Congressional District, and Wilson contends it was because of confusion over the filing deadline.

Antiwar Senators Gear For Fresh Assault

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar senators are geared for a fresh assault on the lingering American military role in Indochina while hoping to reduce new weapons development at the Pentagon.

End-the-war amendments might be tacked on to one of two measures scheduled for debate today: a $1.8-billion foreign- military -aid package or the $20.5-billion Pentagon procurement authorization.

No votes were scheduled on the procurement bill, but it was expected to become the vehicle for antiwar efforts if they failed to survive as attachments to the foreign aid measure. The aid bill was scheduled for a vote late tonight.

The aid bill contains a section drafted by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield which calls for total, unilateral withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam, and withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina once a cease-fire and return of prisoners agreement is reached with Hanoi.

Several amendments are pending for attachment to the Mansfield provision. Two set specific withdrawal dates, Dec. 1 and Oct. 1, and talk of a pullout from Vietnam instead of the broader Indochina theater. Both also require a return of American prisoners.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a motion to strike the Mansfield amendment entirely, and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., has an amendment which simply withdraws all U.S. forces within four months with no conditions.

Cline Raps Property Tax Structure

BLOOMFIELD — In a speech delivered Wednesday to the Kiwanis Club, C. F. Cline of Sikeston, Democratic candidate for state representative from the 159th District, attacked the property tax structure in Missouri as being one of the major problems facing the average Missourian.

Cline said, "As I campaign around this district, I listen to the people and their problems. The biggest complaint I hear is about the property tax structure. The conty court and assessors spend years and years arriving at a tax base, which, at its best, is totally unfair to the small landowner and to the great majority of the population.

"Of all the various, sundry types of taxes which we pay today, there is no doubt the property tax is unequaled in being the most totally unreasonable, biased and discriminatory.

"This must be rectified. The property tax question has been debated, discussed, committeed and procrastinated long enough. This problem will be one of my top priorities as your representative. I do know, like most of you, I want to see it changed, and changed for the better; and I want to see it done in the next session of the General Assembly. It will take the majority of the legislators to see this accomplished. I look forward to being a member of that majority."

Devine Among Hall Of Fame Candidates

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Members of the news media will vote on 14 candidates for induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame at the annual dinner that will be held this year after the Missouri-Colorado football game Oct. 28.

Don Faurot, executive secretary of the hall, said the 12man board of directors narrowed the 1972 nominations in early balloting.

Receiving the most support were:

Dan Devine, former Missouri football coach; Frank Frisch and Rogers Hornsby, former St. Louis baseball Cardinals; J. Ed "Brick" Travis, All-Missouri Valley tackle after World War I; Herb Bunker, four-sport letterman and football coach at Missouri; Harry Smith, football guard at Southern California in 1938 and 1939 and former assistant coach at Missouri.

Glenn Wright, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn shortstop in the 1920s and 1930s; George Edwards, former Missouri basketball coach; Jesse Hill, former major league outfielder, football star and long-time Southern California coach and athletic director.

Hank Stram, Kansas City Chiefs coach; Forrest DiBernardi, amateur basketball; France Laux, pioneer baseball broadcaster; Craig Ruby, former Missouri basketball star and University of Illinois coach, and Johnny King, Chicago Cubs catcher and later manager and owner of the Kansas City Blues baseball team.

King, DiBernardi, Hornsby and Edwards are deceased.

A pair of Southeast Missouri sports figures Kenny Knox and Arnold Ryan were among those submitted for the ballot, but failed to get the required votes. Their names will however remain for next year's vote.

Knox made his fame in the world of sports as a high school coach at Sikeston and college coach at Southeast Missouri State college in Cape Girardeau. He died of cancer in 1970 while serving as athletic director.

Ryan was one of the state's most noted high school coaches. He led Puxico to fame in basketball in the 40's with back to back championships and coached at Memphis State University, and Lilbourn, Lutesville and Charleston high schools. He died on the baseball field at Charleston after being struck by a baseball during warmup drills for a game.

Daily Standard Sports Editor, Ron Jaynes, is a member of the Fame board of directors.

FOR CLEANER WATERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Contamination of recreational waters will be less with the use of new dock-mounted boat sanitary stations.

Almost all states have laws preventing the overboard dumping of sanitary wastes. This means the wastes must be collected and stored on board, until transfer to a disposal facility on shore.

To use the units newly designed by the consulting engineering firm of Pope,Evans and Robbins for the National Park Service, the pleasure boater need only dock at the station and connect a hose to a gunwale fitting on his boat. Waste is then transferred from the boat holding tank to the station holding tank by a station pump.

Then, contents of the station holding tank are either pumped to a sewage system or, in remote areas, otherwise transported to one.

Torre Seeks End To All-Star Slump

ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Torre and Hank Aaron try Tuesday night to atone for poor past performances in the annual mid-summer baseball classic between the American and National leagues.

"I've been a lousy All-Star," said Torre on the eve of the game's 43rd renewal at Atlanta Stadium, a home run hitter's paradise dubbed the "Launching Pad."

Aaron, who has launched many of his career homers here with the Braves, also continues in a perplexing All-Star slump which he can't explain.

"I don't know what it is in All-Star games ... "I just haven't done much in them," said Aaron, a National League slugger for 19 years who has a unimposing .186 batting average in this star-studded affair.

Torre, the third baseman picked by the fans, and Aaron, one of the outfielders, are among the National League swingers who hope to pad the senior circuit's advantage in the series that began in 1933. The NL leads 23-18 with one tie.

The other National League starters include catcher Johnny Bench and second baseman Joe Morgan of the Cincinnati Reds, and outfielders Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Lee May of Houston will be at first base and Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs is the shortstop.

This year's American League team shows no power shortage, either, with a group of fencebreakers who can easily reach those tempting dimensions here—330 feet down the foul lines and 400 feet to straightaway center field. Included among the AL musclemen is Reggie Jackson, the Oakland A's outfielder who started the AL to victory in last year's game at Detroit with a mammoth homer.

First baseman Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox, second baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins, Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, Detroit catcher Bill Freehan New York Yankee center fielder Bobby Murcer and Boston Red Sox left fielder Carl Yastrzemski will out the Americans' power-laced lineup.

American League Manager Earl Weaver and National League Manager Danny Murtaugh name their starting pitchers along with their batting orders today.

A capacity crowd of 52,744 is expected while millions more watch on NBC television beginning at 8:15 p.m. EDT.

Red's Simpson Offered Bribe

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Federal and local authorities were seeking an anonymous telephone caller who Cincinnati Reds pitcher Wayne Simpson said offered him a bribe to throw a weekend game with Pittsburgh.

Simpson, who pitched six innings in the Reds 6-3 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday night, said he received the call about noon Saturday at a local hotel.

Simpson said he spoke about five minutes with the man, who he said identified himself only as "Louie".

"The guy called up and said he wanted me to throw the game, Simpson recalled Sunday. "He said that if I came through he'd make sure two $1,000 bills were under my door after the game.

The Cincinnati pitcher reported the call immediately to Reds Manager Sparky Anderson and the FBI and local police were later notified.

Namth Reports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The latest edition of The Joe Namath Frolics at Training Camp gets its first rehearsal today.

The controversial star quarterback for the New York Jets of the National Football League reported to the Jets camp in Hempstead, N.Y. Sunday. He said he "felt good" and wanted to "get everything under way."

Namath is scheduled to test his much-operated on knees in a workout today and hold a press conference.

His appearance brought a new spirit to the Jets camp.

"When Joe's around theire's an added incentive," said tight end Rich Caster. "Spectators at our practices will triple and the guys will start working harder."

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Colts traded wide receiver Eldridge Dickey to the Kansas City Chiefs for an undisclosed draft choice and the Dallas Cowboys dealt linebacker Tom Stincic to the New Orleans Saints for a high draft choice next year.

Disputes over some players contracts still existed as the official opening of the pre-season exhibition season approached. That will pit the Super Bowl championship Cowboys against the College All-Stars in Chicago Friday night.

The Colts reported they were "as far apart as you can be from lineman Bubba Smith who wants to renegotiate his contract" which has a year to run. "It is against management policy to renegotiate any contract before it expires," a Colt spokesman said.

New York Giants were reported to be making efforts to trade Bob Grim, star passcatching end obtained from Minnesota in the deal that sent quarterback Fran Tarkenton to the Vikings. Grim has been holding out for more money.

The New England Patriots have told veteran running back Jim Nance they no longer need his services. The team said that it has worked out a deal for Nance but that the deal hinges on Nance's agreeing to a pay cut with the undisclosed new club. Nance's salary is rumored to be over $80,000.

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP) — Medals commemorating the murder by Maoris of French explorer Marion du Fresne on June 12, 1772, are being struck by the Auckland Numismatic Society.

Du Fresne and some of his crew were killed in the Bay of Islands for infringing sacred Maori rites and undermining the power of local chiefs.

The medals—10 gold, 200 silver and 300 copper—depict Du Fresne's murder, and his two ships, Mascarina and the Marquis de Castries.

Caproco Claims 1st

Caproco's hard- fighting offense buried number one-seeded First National Bank of the Western Division, 11-1, in Saturday's playoff clash and rolled to the No. 1 spot in the Eastern Division of the American League.

Clinton Malcolm maneuvered all six innings from the mound, fanning 10 batters and holding the opposition to two hits to collect the victory for Caproco. Mayfield and Howard shared mound duty for First National, with Howard suffering the loss after pitching 4 1/3 frustrating innings and marking up seven strikeouts.

Caproco jumped to a two-run lead in the first inning and brought in an additional two runs in the fourth. Second baseman Lester slammed a double to aid in a five- run fifth- inning rally. Catcher Griffin homered in the final inning, accounting for one of the final two markers.

Catcher Beach scored First National's only run in the fifth inning.

Tournament Entries Sought

PARMA — Tournament entries are still being sought for two giant tournaments scheduled at Parma in late August. Proceeds from both will go toward the Little League summer program.

The first of the two events, a tournament for Southeast Missouri's top Little League teams, is scheduled for Aug. 14-21. This event will be an annual affair and will be known as the Southeast Missouri Little League Championships. Anyone wishing to enter a team in this event should contact Ron Jaynes at 357-4447 or 471-1137 before July 29.

Second event on the calendar at Parma is a slow- pitch softball tournament scheduled for Aug. 24-29. Persons desiring to enter a team in this event should also contact Jaynes. A small entry fee will be required for this tournament.

Alyea To Be Released

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced Sunday night plans to release utility player Brant Alyea, obtained in late May from the Oakland Athletics of the American League in exchange for infielder Marty Martinez.

Alyea, used mainly in pinchhitting roles, had collected only three hits in 19 times at bat for a .158 average.

Mitchell Walker

IBEW Pays Way

After a delay of six weeks, 16- year- old Mitchell Walker, left Sunday to attend the Art Gaines Baseball Camp in Hunnewell, Missouri. The delay was caused by a bone broken in the young athlete's right hand three days before he was to leave for camp.

The 5-foot-7, 145- pound, righthanded pitcher hurled for Coach N. P. McDaniel's high school squad last spring in his sophomore year. He compiled a glossy 3-0 record with a perfect 0.00 earned run average. The feats earned him a berth on the second-team, all- conference squad named in the SeMo Conference this spring. In addition to his fine pitching credentials, he batted near the .300 mark and manned the infield in a couple of games.

At the Gaines school, Mitchell will work at second base as well as pitching, and learn the fine arts of switch-hitting — quite a lot to learn in three weeks, but the school has a fine reputation for teaching young ballplayers.

Money for the trip is being furnished by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local One. I.B.E.W. sponsored the Babe Ruth League team for which Mitchell hurled in the 1971 season. His managers were Blake Adams, Joe Donovan and Jim Turner. Turner is vice president of the Local One Union, which is based in St. Louis.

Aaron Jolts Cards

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron has made it rough for the St. Louis Cardinals this season and Sunday was no different.

Hammerin' Hank drove in three runs, one of them with a tie-breaking single in the eighth inning, to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Cardinals Sunday.

Aaron, whose first five hits this season against the Cardinals were homers, collected five singles in the just completed series which the Braves took three games to one.

Aaron's first hit came in the Braves' first turn at bat after right-hander Rick Wise had walked leadoff man Dusty Baker and Ralph Garr singled and promptly stole his 19th base of the season.

Wise, 10-10, had a 2-2 count on Aaron when the Braves star singled up the middle to chase home both runners.

"It was the pitch I was looking for, but he made it good, down and away. It was a good pitch, a real good pitch," Aaron said.

Speaking of the other hit off Wise's fastball in the eighth, he said, "it was an obvious pitcher's mistake."

Phil Niekro maintained the 20 lead provided by Aaron by blanking the Cardinals on six hits until the eighth, when St. Louis came up with two runs to tie on a throwing error by third baseman Darrell Evans and Ted Simmons' run-scoring single.

Former Cardinal Joe Hoerner, 1-2, picked up the victory in relief.

College Stars Face Cards

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — A closed session in the afternoon against the College AllStars was on the docket today for the St. Louis Cardinals following two lengthy practices Sunday.

Coach Bob Hollway, grooming his National Football League team's pass offense and defense as well as its running game, sent the squad through a Sunday afternoon drill extending 15 minutes beyond its normal two-hour duration.

Hollway said the drill against the All-Stars would not include a scrimmage but would be patterned instead to offensive and defensive passing maneuvers.

"From the All-Stars' standpoint the practice will help them become familiar with pro formations," Hollway said. "For us, it will be good to be able to run our plays against someone other than ourselves."

The Cards' squad, decimated last week by player retirements and camp walkouts, stood at 69 players. Latest to leave was third-season guard Chuck Hutchison of Ohio State, who departed Saturday and announced his retirement.

Upholds Dismissal In Cervantes' Suit

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The federal appeals court Thursday upheld a lower court dismissal of St. Louis Mayer A. J. Cervantes' $12 million libel suit against Life Magazine.

The U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals said Cervantes has failed to produce evidence that Life questioned the accuracy of its own 1970 article linking the mayor to alleged organized crime figures.

Cervantes had alleged in the suit that Life recklessly disregarded the truth when it said his friend Anthony Sansome acted as "the mayor's liaison with the two mobs that run the St. Louis underworld."

The suit was dismissed earlier by U. S. District Judge James H. Meredith.

Appeals court judge Roy L. Stephenson wrote the decision for a three- judge panel. He said Cervantes had challenged the accuracy of only four of the 87-paragraph Life story of May 29, 1970, entitled "Investigative Report: St. Louis, the Mayor, the Mob and the Lawyer."

To challenge these paragraphs "the mayor was content to present little more than a series of self serving affidavits . . . which framed a minimal assault on the truth of the matters contained in the four paragraphs," Stephenson wrote.

Cervantes and his attorney did not comment on Thursday's action. They said they would decide after studying the opinion whether to ask for a rehearing in St. Louis or take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The article was written by Benny Walsh, a former reporter for the St. Louis Globe- Democrat.

Walsh "carefully collected and documented the data on the basis of which the article was written and published," Stephenson wrote.

CARUTHERSVILLE — Two civil suits have been continued to be reset in Pemiscot County Circuit Court after an attorney for the St. Louis Southwestern Railroad requested a continuance in the suits which stem from last fall's fatal train- truck crash which killed a Hayti truck driver.

The railroad, represented by Sikeston attorney David Blanton, is suing Jerry Reese of Portageville, owner of the gravel truck which was driven by the crash victim, for $50,000 and Reese has filed a counterclaim against the railroad, seeking $10,000 in damages.

The two suits stem from the Sept. 13, 1971 crash which killed J. L. Terrett Jr., Hayti, an employe of Reese's who died when the gravel truck he was driving smashed into the train at the Bakerville crossing between Kennett and Hayti on Highway 84 at 3 p.m. The collision resulted in the explosion of two saddle tanks of the truck and the derailment of two cars.

The railroad is contending that Reese should be held responsible for the damage to their train due to alleged negligence of the driver. In the countersuit, Reese, who is being represented by Kennett attorney James Bullard, contends the train should be held responsible for damage to his gravel truck because on the day in question the railroad personnel failed to give sufficient warning that the truck was going to collide with the train. Reese contends that due to the dangerous crossing, the train should have stopped when personnel saw the truck.

Judge William Ragland sustained the railroad's motion for a continuance. The two cases will be heard in a jury trial on a date to be set when both suits will be presented.

DunCo Schools Receive Grant Of $13,292

KENNETT — The Office of Education has awarded $13,292 for special programs for educationally disadvantaged children to school districts in Dunklin County.

Congressman Bill D. Burlison, in making the announcement, noted that the grants are authorized under Title I of the elementary and secondary act of 1965 and are part of a program providing special grants for urban and rural schools with the highest concentration of children from low- income families.

The Senath- Hornersville C-8 school district received $3,648, Clarkton C-4 received $1,614, Holcomb R-111 received $1,274, CAmpbell R-11 received $1,777, Malden R-1 received $3,372, and Southland C-9 received $1,607.

The funds will be used solely for programs and projects designed to meet the special educational needs of educationally deprived children in pre- school programs and in elementary schools, Congressman Burlison explained.

The grants may also be used in secondary schools in the same areas when the local and state education agencies determine that there is an urgent need for such programs in secondary schools, the Congressman added.

What's The Law?

Case Of The Sexy Trial

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Ralph, involved in an automobile accident, sued to recover damages for an injury to a very private and personal part of his anatomy. And, while he wasn't the least bit concerned about an open trial on so delicate a matter, the judge was of the opinion that the testimony would be too sexy for the tender ears of the ladies. So, he excluded them from the jury.

"Now, wait a minute," objected Ralph. "A jury is supposed to consist of a cross -sex- tion of the community. I want females on the jury."

"Nothing doing," was the Judge's answer. "Where's your sense of propriety? If women were required to sit as jurors in a case such as this, they'd be in a state of constant embarrassment. The subject matter of your injury is not a proper subject for proper women."

Refusing to accept the judge's ruling, Ralph took the matter to a higher court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you exclude women from the sexy trial.

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that it is common knowledge that society no longer coddles women from the very real and sometimes brutal facts of life. Women, moreover, do not seek such oblivion. While it would have been proper to excuse any woman who found the subject matter of the case distasteful, concluded the judge, the trial judge acted unconstitutionally by excluding women as a group from the jury. (Based upon a 1970 United States Court of Appeals Decision)

Swallows Pride And $3,000 Diamond

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Shirley Martin of Vancouver swallowed more than her pride to hold onto a $3,000 windfall.

Last month Mrs. Martin bought $1 box of buttons from a local Salvation Army thrift store, and later found an odd-ball in the bunch.

She said she had the odd hunk of rock appraised at a jewelry store, which said it was a large, uncut diamond.

While at the jewelry store, she said, two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers asked her to come outside.

"But the jeweler said nobody could take it from me so I made sure of that," she said. "I swallowed it quick." Police checks later turned up nothing on the diamond.

Mrs. Martin said she recovered the diamond two days later at home and took it back to the jeweler, who bought it from her for $3,000.

MONA AND VENUS WHO?

WELLINGTON (AP) — The lively wit of New Zealand's Prime Minister, John R. Marshall, was surpassed here by a bland Frenchman at an official luncheon to a visiting French Parliamentary delegation.

Departing from his prepared speechnotes, the Prime Minister remarked that, "whenever I visit France I call on two girl friends . . . Mona Lisa and Venus de Milo."

Poker-faced, the French interpretor did a literal translation until the end of the sentence when he stopped, turned to the prime minister and said: "I'm sorry sir, I did not get the names of the young ladies."

Nixon Knows Russians Think Big

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Richard M. Nixon learned 13 years ago that the Russians like to talk big. That's probably because they live in a land of extremes, where the phrase "biggest in the world'' is a commonplace.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, then premier, talked very big to the visiting vice president in 1959. He was intent upon convincing his visitor -- the highest - ranking American he'd met up to then -- of how the enormous and powerful Soviet Union, with its brand of socialism, was bound soon to leave the American economy and living standard far behind.

The Great Russian dominates the biggest national land area in all the world and commands immense wealth in natural riches. Possibly that's one of the troubles with East - West relations. The Soviet domestic economy continues to lag behind even small nations of the West decade after decade, and a visitor gets the impression that the combination of natural wealth, bigness and economic lag builds perhaps the biggest inferiority complex in the world.

How big is the Soviet Union?

You could tuck all Latin America inside the territory of the U.S.S.R. and still have room left over. It is bigger in area than the United States and China combined. It is, in fact, almost three times the size of the United States.

What is called the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics got the name in 1922. Moscow is celebrating the 50th anniversary jubilee now. Before that it had called itself Soviet Russia or the Soviet Republic. The original Bolshevik promise after Lenin's faction seized the Russian Revolution in 1917 had been self- determination for all peoples occupying what had been the huge empire of the Czars. Once in power, Bolshevik leaders had second thoughts.

There are, in fact, 100 district nationalities in the Soviet Union speaking a wide variety of languages and dialects. The major languages are Great Russian, Ukrainian, Byelorussian, Romanian, Finnish, Baltic tongues, Georgian and Central Asian ones akin to Turkic and Irian.

These people are dominated by the more than 130 million Great Russians who occupy the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic -- RSFSR-- that extends from the Gulf of Finland all the way to the Pacific.

In the 1970 census the Soviet Union found it had 242 million people in all, occupying an area that sprawls over much of two continents. It spans 11 of the world's 24 time zones and has frontiers of more than 10,000 miles. Its western frontiers are made up by Finland, Norway, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Hungary. In the East it is bounded by the Pacific Ocean and at the Bering Strait is only 35 miles from the United States at Alaska.

In the north it extends into the polar regions and in the south it is bounded by Afghanistan, Turkey, Iran, Outer Mongolia and China, sharing with the hostile Chinese the longest frontier in the world.

The Soviet Union, like Russia before it, has always been a land of superlatives. It has some of the coldest and some of the hottest climate. In the far north it can be as much as 95 degrees below zero and in some parts of Central Asia in the South it gets as hot in summer at 125 above.

The Soviet Union occupies a sixth of the total land surface of this earth and 17 per cent of the earth's inhabitable land. Much of the Artic is permafrost -- that is, land with permanently frozen ground beneath the surface -- and is uninhabitable. The permafrost area is as big as all the United States. A large sector of its Artic coast is tundra, made up of immense marshes frozen solid in winter and made unbearable and unliveable in summer by mosquitoes.

South of the permafrost area is the taiga, a majestically silent, densely forested area of spruce, pine, larch, birch, oak and many other trees rooted in spongy ground. About a third of the Soviet Union is covered by thick forests, making up a fifth of the world's forested areas. Thus, the taiga is a source of great wealth for the Soviet economy.

Beyond the taiga are the immense steppes. In America they would be called prairies.' The steppes sweep all the way from Siberia to the edge of Europe in the Ukraine and have some of the world's most fertile soil, the storied black earth.

Most Soviet people are northerners. Moscow is on the same parallel as Sitka, Alaska. The Black Sea resort of Yalta is on the same latitude as Portland, Ore. The southernmost point of the Soviet Union would be on the latitude of San Francisco, but climatic conditions make the southern areas subtropical. The Soviet Union has huge areas of permanent snow in the north and huge areas of desert in the south.

The U.S.S.R. is a land of mighty rivers, the longest about same length as the Mississippi- Missouri. That is the great 3,500 - mile Yenesei in Siberia. The Volga meanders 2,300 miles north to south through European Russian and nourishes the soil. Mention of Matushka Volga -- Mother Volga -- can bring tears to the eyes of a Russian exile.

In all there are 200,000 miles of river in the U.S.S.R., about 70,000 of them free of ice sufficiently to be navigable. The magnificent rivers include such famed ones as the Dniepr, the Don, the Ob, the Angara, the Lena. The rivers make Moscow a busy inland shipping center calling itself "Port of Five Seas."

The U.S.S.R. is just about self-sufficient in natural resources. Its coal and iron reserves are among the world's greatest. It has plenty of oil, maganese, tin, copper, uranium, lead, zinc, gold, silver, nickel and bauxite and many rare precious metals as well as non-metal minerals.

All this expanse of territory and natural wealth is dominated by the Russian Republic. The RSFSR is only one of the 15 so-called Soviet republics, but Russians are in command everywhere. The 14 other republics, in order of population, are the Ukrainian, Kazakh, Uzbek, Byelorussian, Georgian, Azerbaijanian, Lithuanian, Moldavian, Latvian, Kirghiz, Tadjik, Armenian, Turkmen and Estonian.

The U.S.S.R. has a complicated - looking government structure in which administrative authority is held centrally by a council of ministers headed by a premier. Each republic in turn has its own council of ministers and premier on the same model. In addition to the republican governments, there are 19 "autonomous" republics, nine "autonomous" oblasts, or regions; 123 krais, or territories, and 10 national okrugs, or areas. The republics inturn have their own subordinate governmental structures in oblasts, krais and cities and towns.

But the top level of the Communist party calls all the shots and runs the whole show. Everything that is done is subject to the approval of the party's central authority in the Kremlin. There is a national legislature of two houses, calling itself the Supreme Soviet, but while Soviet citizens go through an elaborate process of secret balloting for single slate of prepicked candidates for that body, it has no power. The Supreme Soviet exists to stamp approval on whatever the Communist party decides and thus clothe those actions with legality.

THREE LANES ARE completed on North Main Street south of the Kingshighway intersection. The white lower area, right, is the bed for the fourth lane. 10 Hurt On Semo Highways

Ten persons were injured Sunday in seven accidents on Southeast Missouri roads and highways, according to reports issued by the highway patrol.

Two rural Broseley juveniles were involved in a motorcycle mishap at 9:30 p.m. on a gravel road four miles southeast of Brosley. A passenger on the vehicle was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff with possible head injuries. The motorcycle struck loose gravel, ran into a ditch and the passenger was thrown off.

A single-car accident at 7:30 p.m. in Ripley County resulted in injuries to Marcella McMurty, 47, of Naylor Route One. She told authorities she had no idea what caused her car to run off the road. The accident occurred on Highway 142 two miles west of Naylor. The driver was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Joseph William Wiedefeld, 22, of Benton received minor injuries when he rounded a curve, ran his car off the road and went through a fence on Highway 61 one half mile south of Kelso. The mishap occurred at 6 p.m. Wiedefeld was taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

In another one-car accident, Jerry Allen Moore, 20, of Lutesville Route Four received possible rib injuries and was treated at a Lutesville clinic and released. Moore said he came over a hilltop, applied brakes and lost control of his car. The vehicle ran off the road, struck a culvert, overturned and landed upside down. The accident occurred at 1 a.m. on Highway 34 two and one-half miles east of Marble Hill.

Four were injured at 1:45 p.m. 12 miles south of

Minibike Stolen From Porch

Cecil Carter, 410 West North St., reported to police Sunday that a minibike worth $179 had been stolen from his front porch sometime Sunday morning.

Carter told police that he saw a truck and a car parked in front of his house before he discovered the bike was missing. He said the truck appeared to have broken down. Wheel marks from the minibike led from the porch to the street, according to police. The investigation is continuing .

Highway 61 Work Is Half Complete

Road work on Highway 61 is about 50 per cent complete, Bill Shaw, District 10 engineer for the State Highway Department said today.

The highway is in the process of being widened and upgraded. Shaw said the work may be completed late this year.

Construction remaining to be done north of the railroad tracks includes widening the road and paving it.

South of the railroad tracks, curb and gutter work and paving of approaches to side roads and driveway entrances remains. Also, Shaw said, there is work to be done around the intersection of Highways 61 and 62.

Shaw said there will be more interruption of traffic with this work than in the past, because crews will be working in the most heavily traveled sections of the road.

He suggested that drivers use other streets to get to their destination whenever possible. He said this would make the job easier for the work crews and lessen the chance of accidents.

Candidates Take Target Practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic and Republican vice presidential candidates are getting in some target practice in advance of the official beginning of the election campaign.

And the new chairman of the Democratic party says the party's financial position is much improved for the 1972 campaign, although they still haven't figured out how to pay all of the multi-million dollar debt left from the 1968 campaign.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who was named Saturday by President Nixon as his running mate for November, criticized Democratic positions on amnesty, the draft and marijuana in a speech at Anchorage, Alaska Sunday.

He said voters will have a "clear voice'' between candidates for the first time, adding, "It would be a tragedy if, after four years, the voters did not return Richard Nixon for another four years.''

The Democratic vice presidential candidate, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, went after Agnew in an appearance on ABC television's 'Issues and Answers'' program, saying the Vice President "gets right down into the grassroots of a campaign, sometimes into the mud."

He said he would welcome a debate with Agnew.

Eagleton also indicated he has so far been rebuffed in attempts to meet with AFL-CIO President George Meany to try to win him to the Democratic side. But he held out the possibility that Meany still would take "a second look."

Jean Westwood, new chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told newsmen in Custer, S.D. that the 19-hour Democratic telethon earlier this month netted only about $1.5 million instead of the $5 million that had been forecast.

But she said the party is trying to pay off or settle as much of its $9.3 million debt as possible.

Of the total debt, $6.3 million is from the 1968 campaign. But Mrs. Westwood said the party is in much better shape now and the entire cost of the 1972 convention has been paid, along with all operating costs so far.

—Sen. McGovern repeated on CBS' "Face the Nation'' program an earlier declaration that, if elected, he would maintain U.S. military forces in Thailand and Southeast Asian waters until American prisoners of war are returned from North Vietnam. He also said he would take advantage of the Nixon administration's invitation for a Vietnam briefing.

The men who participated in the strike are operators of the heavy machinery used to prepare the roadbed for what will be Interstate 55 in its final connection just south of Hayti. Supreme Court Asked To Rehear 16 Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court was asked today to rehear the cases of 16 prisoners who were removed from death row by its historic June 29 decision banning executions.

Prosecutors asked rehearing in 13 Georgia death sentence cases, 2 in Pennsylvania and 1 in Texas.

Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin requested a hearing in the case of Elmer Branch; Pennsylvania District Attorney Arlen Specter asked reconsideration of the cases of Anthony Soleri and Frank Phelan, and Georgia Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton filed in 13 cases.

Martin said in his brief filed with the court clerk that the Supreme Court's anti- execution ruling "constitutes a severe blow to the American jury system."

"The court has not ruled the death penalty unconstitutional per se, but instead has stricken down the legislative grant of the death penalty determination to the jury," Martin said.

Fire , Smoke Damage Local Home

Firemen were called at 5:20 p.m. Saturday to the Marshall Blackman home at 703 Pine St. when a fire broke out in the storage room attached to the carport.

The fire damaged the storage room and carport and caused smoke damage to the house, according to firemen.

Mrs. Blackman said today that no damage estimate was yet available.

The fire is believed to have started when Blackman threw a partially burned towel into the storage room. The towel had caught fire while he was barbecuing in his back yard. Blackman said he thought the towel had been extinquished before tossing it into the storage room. The towel then apparently ignited some flammable liquids kept in the storage room.

ART FOR CHIMPS

Artistic revolutions, like political ones, soon become Establishment and have to fight off challengers. Cuba's Castro has outlawed beards at Havana University, modernist artists have opposed the highly creative new realism, and so it goes.

When modernism was still revolutionary, it was said that the difference between its painting and sculpture was that one was hung on the wall. Art patrons, notoriously avant- garde, soon accepted it and we had, ho hum, a new Establishment.

Well, modernism is now having a tough fight. Resurgent realism, competent, relevant to nature and life, poetic and certainly imaginative is shaking the art world.

Realism is reviving not strictly on its own merits. Moderism, said New York Times art critic John Canaday, with its "cult of the new for the sake of the new has finally reached bottom." He added: "The bottom is a void."

Too often, modernism attempted instant genius. Radical chic patrons fawned over an artist who , for example, invited them to watch him dig a hole in Central Park. The avant-garde crowd loved that one. Critics said that they did not know art from a hole in the ground.

Stunts such as this indicate that modernism is depleting itself and resorting to what the cynical Austrian playwright Handke calls "Beschimpfung." That is, treating the public like chimpanzees.

A London newspaper called the Royal Academy's recent modernist show "perposterous," and "silly." Other critics include John Simon, in New York magazine, who said modernism "is a swinish imposter." Hilton Kramer predicts a "new wave of realist innovation."

Abstract art's liminations have led to dead end. It will soon relinquish its entrenched position.

The chief competitors of the small city retailer are not other local merchants. His most serious competition comes from nearby metropolitan centers.

Small city retailers may rightly maintain that local people are foolish to leave their hometown to shop in metropolitan centers. Little is gained and much is often lost to the shopper and his community as a result of out-of-town shopping.

Prices on standard brands are virtually the same regardless of the locality of retail stores. Special sales in most small cities are just as attractive as they are in the larger trade centers. Often the small city retailer has a pricing advantage because of low overhead costs.

Why, then, do so many shoppers travel fifty or a hundred miles to buy the same items they could obtain at home for the same price? Many retailers who ask this question should look to themselves to find the blame. Inadequate advertising is likely to be the answer.

Certainly local people do not leave town to buy because of a grudge against local merchants. In fact, many of those who do distant shopping are themselves local retailers.

In most cases where out- of-town buying occurs, the cause may be traced to a lack of information about the local market, as compared to detailed information the public obtains concerning the metropolitan stores.

State and regional newspapers come into every small city in the nation. These newspapers are loaded with complete advertising of the large stores of metropolitan centers. This is real competition for the local merchant.

MILE MARKERS MEAN SAFER MOTORING FOR OHIOANS

Reflectorized highway mile markers are the latest safety boon for Ohio motorists.

The Ohio Department of Highways soon will be installing the identifying markets at one mile intervals along all rural highways and through smaller villages. The most heavily traveled routes will receive the markers first.

Long recognized as a major highway safety aid because of their greatly increased visibility, the reflectorized markers will serve the double duty of pinpointing accident locations with much greater accuracy.

The mile markers also will make it easier for highway computer systems to digest the accident information and thus help in classifying and solving road problems.

For instance, officers now are usually limited to identifying accident locations by recognized geographic landmarks – "two miles west of county road 33, etc."

Using the reflectorized mile marker, officers will never be more than a half mile from one, in either direction, and can use their cruiser odometers to find the accident scene.

Highway safety people think, too, that the markers will save lives in that emergency vehicles will be able to get to accident scenes much more quickly.

Nor will the markers in themselves constitute a hazard. According to Fred Kaiser, Ohio highway engineer, the markers will be placed on thin metal poles just off the road edge which will bend easily if struck by a vehicle.

The markers will be installed on both sides of divided highways and on one side of two lane roads but will contain information on both sides.

The state of Pennsylvania, which also has installed the markers, places them 500 feet apart, but Ohio authorities think the one mile interval is sufficient.

Some engineers are thinking of marking county and township roads, and even city streets. On city streets, the house number may be sufficient but Ohio highway people say the county roads may be marked also, after the highway posting is finished.

NO PUBLIC WELFARE FOR STRIKERS

There is no acceptable reason why persons on strike should receive public welfare.

And yet it is estimated strikers will receive $308 million in welfare in 1973 — $238 million of which comes from the food stamp program.

Union members argue they are entitled to welfare benefits when they go on strike for the following principle reasons:

They pay taxes and are entitled to benefits from the tax-supported welfare program.

Need should be the sole criterion.

It would be inhumane to permit children to go hungry because their breadwinning parent is on strike.

Companies continue to receive government subsidies even during strikes and therefore it is only fair that unions and union members be given the same consideration.

What all of these arguments overlook is the fact that the strikers voluntarily leave their jobs. The need that results is of their own making.

The fact that they pay taxes should not entitle them to special benefits from funds that are appropriated for persons who are in need for reasons beyond their own control.

Subsidies received by companies from the government during a strike have no relation to the strike. They were awarded for various ecomonic reasons before the strike and simply are continued during the strike. It would be unjust to suspend such aid because employes walked out.

The federal government and states should stop subsidizing strikers with welfare funds. It is a gross misuse of tax money and gives strikers an unfair advantage over businesses in a prolonged strike.

At a time when everyone is concerned about the high cost of welfare, this is an unnecessary expense that should be eliminated.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you were a bird, a summer heat wave would be no sweat. Neither would winter's chilling blasts. Birds have no sweat glands. They keep cool by special air sacs and by opening their beaks and vibrating the sides of their throats.

How does a man get to heaven? A country preacher once said there was a tie vote the day the first man was born. The Lord voted for him and Satan voted against him. It is then up to the man how he breaks the tie: for he votes with the Lord or with Satan by the kind of life he leads.

A check doesn't have to be the conventional size unless the law says it does, and in most places the law isn't specific. Checks have been honored that were inscribed on blocks of marble, roof shingles, skis, bottle labels or whitewashed on the side of a cow. One man, angered by a California judge's order to pay $1,500 in a divorce suit, ripped off his shirt and wrote on it a check for the amount. His mate had little trouble converting it to cash. Moral: Wherever you can sign your name, watch out.

Quotable notables: "The capacity to endure the cruelties of life and overcome its misfortunes without despair — this requires a heroism beyond glory, pride and vanity." — Albert Salomon.

Statistics: The Irishman isn't the world's heaviest drinker as legend credits him to be, but he is probably the world's heartiest eater. In his own land he consumes 3,450 calories daily, compared with a typical American intake of 3,240 calories.

Big advantage: Along with having more toothsome smiles, certain members of the alligator family have another dental advantage over the human race. They can grow as many as 40 sets of teeth in a lifetime. Even the mighty elephant gets only six or seven sets. Worth remembering: "I can't say I was in the top half of my college graduating class, but I was in the group that made the top half possible."

McGOVERN: TWO VIEWS FROM BRITAIN

The democratic world must face up to the bare possibility and the consequences, so far as it is concerned, of McGovernment in Washington.

The very champion and pillar of democracy would be shown to be chronically debilitated by the social and political diseases that are undermining the Western way of life everywhere. Wishful thinking would become a State religion, with the President as its High Priest. The repercussions of the economic consequences for America of the proposed wealth share- out and other measures would be bad enough. The results for security and the balance of power would be appalling. Mr. McGovern's promise to withdraw from Vietnam unconditionally within three months will probably already have been made superfluous by Mr. Nixon's wiser efforts, although Hanoi might be tempted to fight on in the hope of an American surrender. It is madness for Mr. McGovern to undertake to cut American forces in Europe by two- thirds and her defense budget by half without any reference to what Russia is doing. We cannot believe that things are really so rotten in the United States of America. — The Daily Telegraph

The American policical system would not allow him (Senator McGovern) to be the wild radical that Republican propaganda is making him out to be. He has, however, a radical domestic program and a foreign policy which includes withdrawing half the American forces stationed in Europe. McGovern is not the only Democratic leader who has been pressing for a reduction of United States troops in Europe. It is something which a United Europe must learn to live with and meet by preparing to take on more responsibility for its own defense. The importance of Mr. McGovern is his concern with domestic reforms. These can be as important for Europe as Mr. Nixon's foreign policy. For a United States which ignores the need for change at home is never going to be a stable society and will remain vulnerable to the civil unrest which wracked it in the late 1960's. Mr. McGovern may not have the fright solutions, but at least he sees the need for reform. To that extent his election is needed in the United States. — The Guardian

People sometimes get impatient with the "Checks-and-balances" system of government. But, time after time, it has proven its worth. A recent instance of this was the near hysterical pressure for gun control legislation following the tragic assassinations in the months before the last presidential election.

In the emotional uproar, millions of law-abiding citizens and their spokesmen were virtually thrown into the same kettle with professional criminals by advocates of police state regulation of guns. The National Rifle Association, for nearly 100 years a staunch supporter of law, order and the right of citizen gun ownership, was subjected to a campaign of vilification that has few parallels. This happened partly because there was little public knowledge of the great accomplishments of the NRA in safety, police training, conservation and other fields. But, in spite of the hysteria, the worst features of proposed gun controls were bypassed in the deliberations of Congress. There is greater recognition of the fact that it is criminals that need controlling more than guns. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has proposed an amendment to the Gun Control Act of 1968. It provides that those using a firearm to commit a crime shall receive a mandatory penalty of 10 years in prison for a first offense and 25 years for conviction of a second offense.

President Nixon, in advocating both federal and state legislation, has state,"... Congress should consider immediate legislation providing for a mandatory prison term of substantial duration for any felon who uses a firearm in the commission of a serious federal crime. The fifty states should consider action along identical lines..."

We should give thanks for the delays built into our representative form of government ...for the "checks and balances." It takes a little time to find the path of reason leading to policies that will correct abuses and still not destroy the substance of personal responsibility and freedom that give meaning to the very existence of this nation.

PITY THE LICENSE CLERKS

Our sympathy goes out to the clerks who issue drivers licenses in Missouri.

Beginning July 1, which is Saturday they'll have to take a color picture of every applicant so it can be put on the license card. If we've learned anything over fifty years of picture taking, it is that many people are never satisfied with what a photo makes them look like. Most of us think we couldn't possibly look that horrible or that old, or that thin or that fat. If retakes are permitted, which we doubt, our license clerks are in for a siege of long hours and considerable argument or in any event, the arguments.

The new law is okay, but we do wonder how it will help identify those who change their hair color or wig every week or so.

PART OF MULTIPLE USE

Many people do not know the meaning of conservation as practiced under multiple use of forest lands. An article in "Pacific Business" by a spokesman for the American Forest Institute reveals how multiple use works as practiced by timber producing companies.

Throughout the nation, 234 companies operate nearly 66 million acres of timber producing land. Virtually all of this land is open to the public for recreational use. In California alone, 24 timber companies keep 3.8 million acres of timberland open to nearly every type of public recreation. In total, nearly 8,000 miles of forest access roads and nearly 1,000 miles of hiking trails on privately-owned forest lands are available to the public. The road networks provide access for thousands of hunters and fishermen each year. Private forest lands in California, as well as elsewhere, fill a substantial recreation gap not accommodated by state or federal agencies. This is the recreation side of the multiple-use coin.

These millions of acres of private forest lands also represent taxable private enterprise. Private enterprise is responsible for seeing that timber is produced to meet U. S. housing goals, as well as soaring public demand for an ever-increasing variety of forest products that require the cutting of trees. Multiple land use is the only answer if we wish to live and enjoy ourselves at the same time.

EVIL HEROIN

Defenders of Red China keep trying to cloud the facts about Red China's heroin pushing in the U.S. A White House memo was reported circulated to Congressmen suggesting that charges against Red China were being promoted by friends of Chiang Kai-shek and that the Turks and others are the real culprits in the heroin trade.

Well, Turkey has harvested its last poppy crop, from which heroin is made. The crop is no longer legal there. Poppies, however, are a major crop in Red China and it is not a "private enterprise" crop. It is a communist government crop, just like all major activity in Red China.

U.S. Marine Corps General Lewis Walt, recently retired as assistant commandant, is working with Senator James Eastland (D- Miss.) collecting information about drug traffic. Concerned citizens could do well in writing letters to the editor and to the Congress urging public hearings on the heroin traffic. Then it will be more difficult to hide the truth about this communist plot to subvert U.S. servicemen abroad and young people here at home.

Red Chinese heroin has been seized in New York and Chicago in huge amounts but you don't hear much about it in the national news media. Only a few enterprising newspapers emphasize these facts. Three Peking agents were nabbed in Chicago with heroin samples worth $100,000 along with revolutionary propaganda intended for distribution on Midwest college campuses. In New York, $2million worth of Red Chinese heroin was seized. Let's expose the truth about Red China and heroin. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

New Derring Duo:
Ted Kennedy - George Meany Coalition To Campaign for Congressional Control

WASHINGTON---It is accepted as fact in the most rarified labor circles that Ted Kennedy positively told George Meany he was "ready and primed" to fight George McGovern for the Presidential nomination if the union high command could prevent a first-ballot Dakotan win. Meany promised to make the fight. He kept his word despite the defection of Minnesota's melancholy man, Hubert Humphrey.

Thus there were three seasons for the seemingly futile Scoop Jackson defiance of McGovern's machine--to attempt to stall the nomination; to keep Gov. George Wallace from being the runner-up; and to prove there is a centrist movement inside the Democratic party.

Thus the past is prelude. Meany soldered labor's alliance with Kennedy to hold the center. You can believe it. Ted Kennedy has as little use for McGovern as his tragic brothers had for Lyndon Johnson. Ted Kennedy has been known to say he would have taken on the Dakotan but did not want to unloose "the bloodletting Bobby did when he openly fought (Gene) McCarthy."

To Meany, the Kennedy alliance is a powerful political weapon. It can control the Congress. And the AFL-CIO's cagey curmudgeon began driving right on through, regardless of who was on the course, not five minutes after the press, electronic and print, left the national AFL-CIO headquarters here Wednesday.

Meany appointed a tough Senatorial Campaign Committee chaired by the Maritime Trades Dept. chief Paul Hall, easily as astute a student of power plays and organization as McGovern's still anonymous brain-trusters. Coordinating with Hall on the unique labor action front are the Steelworkers' chief I. W. Abel, the Iron Workers' John Lyons, Pete Bommarito of the Rubber Workers and the Service Employees' George Hardy.

This is a formidable offensive lineup. Theirs is the key play. It would take merely a shift in five Senate seats to give President Nixon, should he win, control of the upper house. And a shift of 22 House seats would throw it to the Republicans. Labor's not neutral on this one. Meany has said, "We can live with Nixon," but there's no neutrality in the Congressional fight – especially when labor wins such Senate battles as the minimum wage count Thursday by one vote --47 to 46.

Here is the basic issue. Naturally it is lost in the living color turbulence of political coverage. For the moment only a handful of political sophisticates are watching Congress while the rest of the nation gapes at Custer's (S.D.) No.1 citizen's last stand.

Labor chiefs and their opponents are lining up for tough battles in the next session. Critical Senators want a compulsory arbitration act to prevent national steel and auto strikes as well as those on the railroads.

Sen. Tower wants the Davis- Bacon Act repealed. This is the law which is the backbone of the building and construction trades unions' demand for $10- and $15-an-hour wage fringe payments. Sen. Fanning is fighting for restrictions on the use of labor funds in politics. And he wants the National Labor Relations Board revamped. A powerful management movement, ardently claiming the pendulum has swung and its rights now being trampled, wants a series of "labor Law reforms" including the creation of a labor court system.

Meany and his colleagues, be they pro- Nixon or McGovern, find such proposals as anathematic as the new pot politics. Labor chiefs were relieved when they learned from this column, a week before it was officially announced, theat President Nixon would withdraw his Crippling Strikes Prevention Act proposal. But they don't trust the critical Congressmen to take the cue from Mr. Nixon.

So the mammoth labor political machine, COPE (Committee on Political Education), hurtled into action Wednesday afternoon. Thursday the AFL-CIO mailed letters to its 51 state federations (including Puerto Rico) and 738 City Central Labor Councils warning them not to endorse or spend a penny on either Presidential candidate – but to get started on the Congressional campaigns. This is mandatory under the AFL-CIO's constitution.

"We are immediately reevaluating all Senate and House races," said one of the handful close to Meany. "There will be special emphasis on marginal Congressional elections – those won or lost by our friends by 5 per cent. Of course, the whole Executive Council still is opposed to Republican control of the Congress. We will back some Republicans, but there's no doubt that we'll be overwhelmingly for the Democrats. This has nothing to do with our Presidential neutrality."

It will be difficult to fight for candidates from below. But with Ted Kennedy as an improvised top man, the alliance could win a fight for control – or at least to hold what it has. Thus we are past the prelude.

WASHINGTON – The Pakistani government is shopping in the United States for torture devices for breaking down suspects and brainwashing prisoners.

The Pakistanis would also like to procure "technical equipment" for bugging rooms, tapping telephones, taking clandestine pictures and writing secret messages in invisible ink.

It is suspected -- but can't be stated positively -- that the money for the torture and tapping devices will come out of U.S. aid funds.

Colonel Khan Ahmed Shamshad, the Pakistani army attache in Washington, has been circulating a bizarre shopping list of 17 items.

High on the list is "electric shock pulses equipment, time one second to ten seconds, for use in interrogation of suspects to break them for interrogation."

Next on the list are "interrogations powerful lights" and "color changer on the lights" for "brainwashing of suspects."

The Pakistanis are also seeking tape recorders "for tape recording of unguarded conversation" and a small camera "for unobtrusive photography."

"Static intercepting devices" are wanted "to intercept unguarded conversations" plus hidden infra-red cameras "for unobtrusive photography."

"for unguarded photography" and an audio interceptor "to intercept conversations on telephone."

SPY TOOLS

For the use presumably of Pakistani spies, Colonel Khan would also like to buy an invisible ink kit "for invisible writing and detecting invisible writing."

We carefully verified the authenticity of the amazing procurement list. Then we called Colonel Khan for his comment.

"I don't know what to say," he spluttered. "This is, of course, an internal thing. I can only say this much: Your reading -- I would agree with that -- but it is not with any ulterior motives."

He suggested that "every government" uses torture and tapping equipment. His strange shopping list, he added, "is just an inquiry."

But he submitted the list to one arms dealer, Aviterra Corporation of Bethesda, Md., with a letter declaring: "We are interested to procure the equipment as per list attached. Before placing a firm order as to the procurement of equipment, we would like to have the technical literature for study and evaluation."

The firm's president, Horst Kleinsorg, happens to be a German who had done business with the Pakistanis but who has bitter memories of Adolf Hitler.

"Just by reading the list," he replied to Colonel Khan, "I feel certain memories back when I was a child in Germany and unfortunately was a witness when this material was at the disposal of people like the ones requesting it now. . . .

"Instead of spending money for this type of equipment, it is, in my opinion, more appropriate to take these funds and feed little children in the slums of Karachi and Lahore. If you feed them now, you don't have to interrogate them later."

SLUSH FUND

One of the nation's largest banks, the Crocker National Bank of California, has been hitting up its executives for campaign contributions.

In a stuffy letter to its high-level employees, bank chairman Emmett Solomon urged them to make contributions to the "Robert M. Pike Trustee Fund." As it turns out, the fund is named for the bank's corporate secretary and is a slush fund for the bank's favorite political candidates.

"Contributions to the Fund are entirely voluntary," says Solomon's letter, which then pointedly suggests that contributions should be "equal to one-half of one per cent of your gross annual salary."

When we queried Crocker Vice President Donald White about the slush fund, he said it was terminated after new recent federal laws required that contributors' name be made public. Nevertheless, he confirmed that "tens of thousands" of dollars had been handed out to the banks' backslapping buddies during the fund's lifetime.

DENHOLM'S OFFICE

Representative Frank Denholm, the freshman Democrat from South Dakota, operates a district office in Brookings, S.D., that costs the taxpayers $200 a month rent. Since Denholm and his wife now own the building, they are collecting most of the money.

What's more, the congressman has named an old friend, real estate man Arthur Anderson, as his $29,000-a-year administrative assistant.

Anderson, however, has yet to take up residence in Washington and his picture still appears in ads for his real estate firm in South Dakota.

Bond In Court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The question of whether state Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond has lived in Missouri long enough to run for governor goes before the state Suprem Court this afternoon.

The court will hear the contentions of both sides and likely will not hear any testimony before Tuesday. Today's hearing is to more or less set the groundwork, says Court Clerk Tom Simon.

A suit by state Rep. R. J. "Bus" King, R-Clayton, contends Bond should be removed as a candidate for the Republican nomination in the governor's race because he lived outside the state from 1960-68. King also seeks the GOP nomination.

Bond has not denied living outside the state and contends that voting residency is what counts and that he has never voted outside the state.

King's suit does not mention Bond's qualifications as state auditor. He was elected to that position in 1970.

Bond, King and another GOP gubernatorial candidate, Gene McNary of St. Louis, appeared toggether Sunday at a picnic at Creve Coeur Park.

King said that if he had not raised the issue of Bond's residency now, a Democrat would just before the November general election.

King said the Republicans' best chances in November lie in uniting behind the primary choice and running a race "uncluttered by vulnerability to attacks from the Democrats."

Revenue Sharing Bad For State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., estimated today that Missouri would come out on the short end of a 76-100 ratio if the Nixon administration's revenue sharing plan is enacted.

The Missouri Senator released figures which indicated state and local governments in Missouri would get only $107.5 million while its residents were paying $140.5 million in personal income taxes.

The revenue sharing plan has passed the House and is in the Senate Finance Committee.

In another comparison, the senator said Missourians pay 2.67 per cent of all personal income taxes collected by the federal government, but the state's share of revenue sharing would be only 2.03 per cent.

Symington said he has asked the Senate committee to re-examine the basic concept of revenue sharing and the distribution formulas in the House bill.

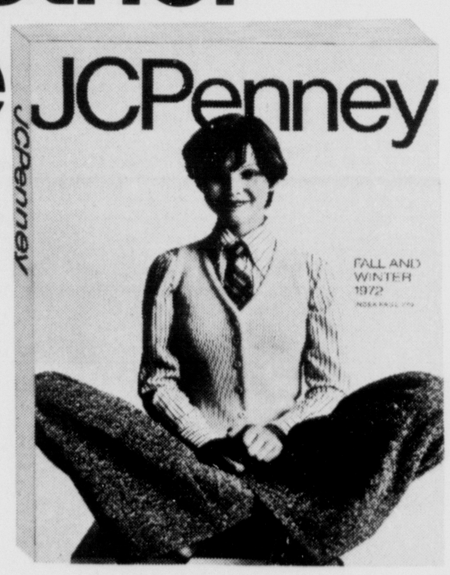
JCPenney
The values are here every day.

Our new catalog, and what the other catalogs hope you never find out about us.



Long before consumerism was invented, we've had a thing about highest quality at lowest prices.

It's the only way we've operated since James Cash Penney opened his first Golden Rule Store back in 1902.

But giving you a bigger dollar's worth isn't the only reason there are now almost seventeen hundred JCPenney stores. Or why we've suddenly become America's fastest growing catalog.

What really sets us apart is people. Experts with years of experience who make the decisions on each of the hundred thousand things we offer. Even the slightest doubt about any item is enough to get it shipped to our Test Center. There the standards are so tough some of the big name national brands would have trouble getting an O.K.

Everything you'd expect in a great catalog is in our catalog. Furniture, drapery, bedding, fashions—including hard-to-find extra sizes. But you'll also discover a lot of things you didn't expect. A home gymnasium. A complete wine making kit. An outdoor waterfall. A fisherman's depth finder. An electric organ. Pages of creative crafts. And much more.

And, of course, you can use your JCPenney Charge on any order. If you don't have one, take a few moments to fill out an application when you pick up your free catalog.

Once your order is received, we really go to work. We check and double check to make sure you get exactly what you want, and that it gets to you the way you want it.

Fashions, for instance, are never packed in advance. We keep them on hangers until the very last minute. Then we rush them right out to you.

What's more, all of our items are fully described. We try to anticipate everything you could possibly want to know. About the product. The price. The guarantee.

Having our new Fall/Winter Catalog is like having a great store at your fingertips. And all you have to do to order is pick up your telephone.

So, now that you've found out what the other catalogs hoped you wouldn't, why not go a step further. Order something from our catalog. Preferably, something you'd normally order from another catalog. That way, you'll find out fast whether we're as good as we say.

Our new Fall/Winter edition is just off the presses. Your free copy is waiting for you now at our Catalog Center.

Dissent Arises Among Ranks of Women's Lib

NEW YORK (AP) — Feminist Betty Friedan, who predicted a male blacklash as the result of female chauvinism in the woman's liberation movement, has run into a backlash of her own.

"This seems to be a case of heli has no fury like a woman scorned in the women's movement," said Olga Madar, a vice president of the United Auto Workers and a member of the policy council of the National Woman's Political Caucus.

Miss Madar was one of many women who sprang to the defense of Gloria Steinem and Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., when Mrs. Friedan singled them out as "female chauvinist boors," antimale and part of an ideological split within the feminist movement.

Miss Steinem and Mrs. Abzug were restrained in their reaction to Mrs. Friedan's magazine article and news conference Tuesday until it became clear that word of the so-called split made headlines. In increasingly stronger terms, Miss Steinem and Mrs. Abzug offered their rebuttals.

"I think it is not honest of me to say there are not disagreements. There are." said Miss Steinem. "It's worse that women think there is some big philosophical split than that they understand the real problem with one person. Of course there are tactical differences but we also work together.

"But an individual who has delusions of inventing and downing the movement is bound to attack other women who raise their heads. Philosophy has nothing to do with it."

Mrs. Abzug described the article as "theoetically inaccurate and factually wrong and subjective, sensationalist literary projection."

"Many people have fantasies," she said. "But few write them down."

Mrs. Friedan, author of "The Feminine Mystique" and a founder of the National Organization for Women, criticized feminists who portray women as super virtuous and man as the enemy.

"We didn't start out at the same place, it would be a miracle if we ended up at the same place," she said.

NEW MADRID — The First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the wedding June 30 of Miss Jessica Fay Driscoll and Davie Dalton Simpson.

Ann Landers

"Real Man" Appreciated

Dear Ann Landers: I loved your definition of "a real man" -- and I was glad to hear you say you are married to one. I am, too, and I'd like to tell you what I like best about my husband.

It's the way he gets down on the floor and plays with the kids, his big hands cradling their little heads as he helps them do somersaults. Or when he stays with the children for an evening so I can go someplace. And when I come home I see the clumsy but tender way he has put on the baby's diaper and his little undershirt, backwards.

I adore it when he comes into the kitchen and follows me around and talks to me while I'm putting the final touches on supper --- telling me about his day, yakking a mile a minute and sharing a part of his life that I don't see.

I love the way he comes with me to PTA meetings even though there are only three or four other daddies there.

I appreciate his kindness to my parents. He is generous, thoughtful and sweet to them.

Above all, Ann, he makes me feel like a real woman. And I guess that's what makes him a real man. -- Big Jim's Wife

Dear Wife: It's a joy to receive a letter like yours in the midst of the thousands of gripes from women who are full of complaints -- many justified, I'm sure. Thanks for the day- brightener. Jim sounds like a gem. And so do you.

Dear Ann Landers: If I'm a nut on the subject, so be it, but I get wild when I read such stories in the newspapers as these (they all appeared within the past month):

"Two-year-old falls off a balcony while watching a basketball game."

"Year - old tot tumbles out of grocery cart and is seriously injured."

"Four-year-old drowns in bathtub."

"Toddler in serious condition after drinking cleaning fluid."

"Youngster found at bottom of pool. Two lifeguards on duty. No one saw that the child was in trouble."

Tot suffocates in car while parents shopped for three hours."

"Five-year-old dies after eating 40 pills found in grandmother's purse."

"Child of 18 months killed on road in front of aunt's home."

In every single instance, somebody was not doing his job. I know the heartache and agony that such accidents can cause parents, grandparents or whoever was supposed to be in charge -- but it doesn't change things. Nothing is so important as keeping an eye on children.

What's a baby doing in a grocery cart, or at a basketball game, or out playing in the road? What are cleaning fluid and pills doing where a child can get his hands on them? Why is a youngster left in a locked car or in a bathtub?

Please, Ann, print this letter and let's hope and pray that every parent who reads it will ask himself, "Could any of these tragedies have occurred in MY family this past year?" -- Midwest Plea

Dear Midwest: Here is your letter, and my thanks for writing it. It's full of common sense and good questions --- and if it shakes up a few million mothers, I'm for that, too.

Are you, or someone you care about messing around with drugs --- or considering it? Are all drugs bad? What about pot -- in moderation? Ann Landers' new bookelt, "Straight Dope on Drugs," separates the facts from the fiction. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16 cent postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346 , Chicago, Ill. 60654.

AS AN UNDERCOVER 'AMERICAN TOURIST' IN IRELAND COL:' STEVE CANYON SEE MANY THINGS -- EVEN SOME STARS!

Sent to Northern Ireland on a mysterious mission, Steve and Summer Canyon are to pose as tourists while awaiting instructions from an unidentified contact.

They find it difficult to convince the local residents of Ulster they have picked this time of strife to visit the area solely to enjoy the beauty of the countryside.

But Steve finds it even more difficult to assure Summer that it is just a coincidence when they meet Mew Hasty, a WAF in the British military unit posted to Ulster --

A GIRL WHO KNEW STEVE WHEN HE WAS A BACHELOR

Summer loses her cool in the presence of this worldly female who has obviously been a close friend of her husband. The triangle almost reaches the un-diplomatic stage when the Canyons' contact is revealed and the full impact of their undercover task becomes apparent.

Millions Kicked Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has kicked back hundreds of millions of dollars to South Vietnam, South Korea and Cambodia for military purposes out of funds those countries paid under the U.S. Food for Peace program.

There was nothing illegal about the transactions, which were revealed in a White House report. The kickbacks were in local currencies.

South Vietnam received $742.7 million through 1971 for military purposes out of $919.8 million it paid for U.S. foodstuffs under the program. South Korea has received $593.1 million out of $752.2 million, and Cambodia, which has only been in the program a year, received $7.4 million.

The kickback arrangement was authorized in the Food for Peace law. It allows that local currencies received under the Food for Peace program can be returned by the U.S. for "common defense" purposes.

The arrangement for use of local currency was ended last year, although grants can continue to Vietnam and Cambodia out of funds generated under credit agreements, the report said.

Out of $12.9 billion in total aid under Food for Peace since 1954, more than $1.7 billion has been spent on "common defense" arrangements.

Sunshine Hearing Tomorrow

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A hearing on an attempt to have the secretary of state accept the open meetings, or "sunshine" petitions was scheduled to begin Tuesday afternoon in Cole County Circuit Court and a judge said he erred in listing the hearinging for today.

The secretary of state said Friday he was told the hearing would be today, and judge James T. Riley's secretary said this morning it would be today.

But the judge checked his original order, said "I goofed," and gave the secretary of state another day in which to prepare his response to the Citizens Lobby suit.

The secretary of state's office also was scheduled to be represented at 2 p.m., only a half hour after the sunshine case, in the Supreme Court hearing on a suit challenging the residency of state Auditor Christopher Bond.

Carl Wilson of Kansas City, chairman of the Citizens Lobby, seeks to have the petitions accepted or return to him. The secretary of state's office keeps all petitions when they are submitted.

The petitions seek a November vote on a constitutional amendment that would require all public bodies to have open meetings and to keep their records open.

A similar measure failed in the last legislature and the bill is expected to be reintroduced again in December at the next general session.

The sunshine petitions fell short of having the required 15,600 signatures from the 7th Congressional District, and Wilson contends it was because of confusion over the filing deadline.

Antiwar Senators Gear For Fresh Assault

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antiwar senators are geared for a fresh assault on the lingering American military role in Indochina while hoping to reduce new weapons development at the Pentagon.

End-the-war amendments might be tacked on to one of two measures scheduled for debate today: a $1.8-billion foreign-military-aid package or the $20.5-billion Pentagon procurement authorization.

No votes were scheduled on the procurement bill, but it was expected to become the vehicle for antiwar efforts if they failed to survive as attachments to the foreign aid measure. The aid bill was scheduled for a vote late tonight.

The aid bill contains a section drafted by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield which calls for total, unilateral withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam, and withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina once a cease-fire and return of prisoners agreement is reached with Hanoi.

Several amendments are pending for attachment to the Mansfield provision. Two set specific withdrawal dates, Dec. 1 and Oct. 1, and talk of a pullout from Vietnam instead of the broader Indochina theater. Both also require a return of American prisoners.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., has a motion to strike the Mansfield amendment entirely, and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., has an amendment which simply withdraws all U.S. forces within four months with no conditions.

Cline Raps Property Tax Structure

BLOOMFIELD — In a speech delivered Wednesday to the Kiwanis Club, C. F. Cline of Sikeston, Democratic candidate for state representative from the 159th District, attacked the property tax structure in Missouri as being one of the major problems facing the average Missourian.

Cline said, "As I campaign around this district, I listen to the people and their problems. The biggest complaint I hear is about the property tax structure. The conty court and assessors spend years and years arriving at a tax base, which, at its best, is totally unfair to the small landowner and to the great majority of the population.

"Of all the various, sundry types of taxes which we pay today, there is no doubt the property tax is unequaled in being the most totally unreasonable, biased and discriminatory.

"This must be rectified. The property tax question has been debated, discussed, committeed and procrastinated long enough. This problem will be one of my top priorities as your representative. I do know, like most of you, I want to see it changed, and changed for the better; and I want to see it done in the next session of the General Assembly. It will take the majority of the legislators to see this accomplished. I look forward to being a member of that majority."

Devine Among Hall Of Fame Candidates

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Members of the news media will vote on 14 candidates for induction into the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame at the annual dinner that will be held this year after the Missouri-Colorado football game Oct. 28.

Don Faurot, executive secretary of the hall, said the 12man board of directors narrowed the 1972 nominations in early balloting.

Receiving the most support were:

Dan Devine, former Missouri football coach; Frank Frisch and Rogers Hornsby, former St. Louis baseball Cardinals; J. Ed "Brick" Travis, All-Missouri Valley tackle after World War I; Herb Bunker, four-sport letterman and football coach at Missouri; Harry Smith, football guard at Southern California in 1938 and 1939 and former assistant coach at Missouri.

Glenn Wright, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn shortstop in the 1920s and 1930s; George Edwards, former Missouri basketball coach; Jesse Hill, former major league outfielder, football star and long-time Southern California coach and athletic director.

Hank Stram, Kansas City Chiefs coach; Forrest DiBernardi, amateur basketball; France Laux, pioneer baseball broadcaster; Craig Ruby, former Missouri basketball star and University of Illinois coach, and Johnny King, Chicago Cubs catcher and later manager and owner of the Kansas City Blues baseball team.

King, DiBernardi, Hornsby and Edwards are deceased.

A pair of Southeast Missouri sports figures Kenny Knox and Arnold Ryan were among those submitted for the ballot, but failed to get the required votes. Their names will however remain for next year's vote.

Knox made his fame in the world of sports as a high school coach at Sikeston and college coach at Southeast Missouri State college in Cape Girardeau. He died of cancer in 1970 while serving as athletic director.

Ryan was one of the state's most noted high school coaches. He led Puxico to fame in basketball in the 40's with back to back championships and coached at Memphis State University, and Lilbourn, Lutesville and Charleston high schools. He died on the baseball field at Charleston after being struck by a baseball during warmup drills for a game.

Daily Standard Sports Editor, Ron Jaynes, is a member of the Fame board of directors.

FOR CLEANER WATERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Contamination of recreational waters will be less with the use of new dock-mounted boat sanitary stations.

Almost all states have laws preventing the overboard dumping of sanitary wastes. This means the wastes must be collected and stored on board, until transfer to a disposal facility on shore.

To use the units newly designed by the consulting engineering firm of Pope,Evans and Robbins for the National Park Service, the pleasure boater need only dock at the station and connect a hose to a gunwale fitting on his boat. Waste is then transferred from the boat holding tank to the station holding tank by a station pump.

Then, contents of the station holding tank are either pumped to a sewage system or, in remote areas, otherwise transported to one.

Torre Seeks End To All-Star Slump

ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Torre and Hank Aaron try Tuesday night to atone for poor past performances in the annual mid-summer baseball classic between the American and National leagues.

"I've been a lousy All-Star," said Torre on the eve of the game's 43rd renewal at Atlanta Stadium, a home run hitter's paradise dubbed the "Launching Pad."

Aaron, who has launched many of his career homers here with the Braves, also continues in a perplexing All-Star slump which he can't explain.

"I don't know what it is in All-Star games ... "I just haven't done much in them," said Aaron, a National League slugger for 19 years who has a unimposing .186 batting average in this star-studded affair.

Torre, the third baseman picked by the fans, and Aaron, one of the outfielders, are among the National League swingers who hope to pad the senior circuit's advantage in the series that began in 1933. The NL leads 23-18 with one tie.

The other National League starters include catcher Johnny Bench and second baseman Joe Morgan of the Cincinnati Reds, and outfielders Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Lee May of Houston will be at first base and Don Kessinger of the Chicago Cubs is the shortstop.

This year's American League team shows no power shortage, either, with a group of fencebreakers who can easily reach those tempting dimensions here—330 feet down the foul lines and 400 feet to straightaway center field. Included among the AL musclemen is Reggie Jackson, the Oakland A's outfielder who started the AL to victory in last year's game at Detroit with a mammoth homer.

First baseman Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox, second baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins, Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, Detroit catcher Bill Freehan New York Yankee center fielder Bobby Murcer and Boston Red Sox left fielder Carl Yastrzemski will out the Americans' power-laced lineup.

American League Manager Earl Weaver and National League Manager Danny Murtaugh name their starting pitchers along with their batting orders today.

A capacity crowd of 52,744 is expected while millions more watch on NBC television beginning at 8:15 p.m. EDT.

Red's Simpson Offered Bribe

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Federal and local authorities were seeking an anonymous telephone caller who Cincinnati Reds pitcher Wayne Simpson said offered him a bribe to throw a weekend game with Pittsburgh.

Simpson, who pitched six innings in the Reds 6-3 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday night, said he received the call about noon Saturday at a local hotel.

Simpson said he spoke about five minutes with the man, who he said identified himself only as "Louie".

"The guy called up and said he wanted me to throw the game, Simpson recalled Sunday. "He said that if I came through he'd make sure two $1,000 bills were under my door after the game.

The Cincinnati pitcher reported the call immediately to Reds Manager Sparky Anderson and the FBI and local police were later notified.

Namth Reports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The latest edition of The Joe Namath Frolics at Training Camp gets its first rehearsal today.

The controversial star quarterback for the New York Jets of the National Football League reported to the Jets camp in Hempstead, N.Y. Sunday. He said he "felt good" and wanted to "get everything under way."

Namath is scheduled to test his much-operated on knees in a workout today and hold a press conference.

His appearance brought a new spirit to the Jets camp.

"When Joe's around theire's an added incentive," said tight end Rich Caster. "Spectators at our practices will triple and the guys will start working harder."

Elsewhere, the Baltimore Colts traded wide receiver Eldridge Dickey to the Kansas City Chiefs for an undisclosed draft choice and the Dallas Cowboys dealt linebacker Tom Stincic to the New Orleans Saints for a high draft choice next year.

Disputes over some players contracts still existed as the official opening of the pre-season exhibition season approached. That will pit the Super Bowl championship Cowboys against the College All-Stars in Chicago Friday night.

The Colts reported they were "as far apart as you can be from lineman Bubba Smith who wants to renegotiate his contract" which has a year to run. "It is against management policy to renegotiate any contract before it expires," a Colt spokesman said.

New York Giants were reported to be making efforts to trade Bob Grim, star passcatching end obtained from Minnesota in the deal that sent quarterback Fran Tarkenton to the Vikings. Grim has been holding out for more money.

The New England Patriots have told veteran running back Jim Nance they no longer need his services. The team said that it has worked out a deal for Nance but that the deal hinges on Nance's agreeing to a pay cut with the undisclosed new club. Nance's salary is rumored to be over $80,000.

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP) — Medals commemorating the murder by Maoris of French explorer Marion du Fresne on June 12, 1772, are being struck by the Auckland Numismatic Society.

Du Fresne and some of his crew were killed in Bay of Islands for infringing sacred Maori rites and undermining the power of local chiefs.

The medals—10 gold, 200 silver and 300 copper—depict Du Fresne's murder, and his two ships, Mascarina and the Marquis de Castries.

Caproco Claims 1st

Caproco's hard- fighting offense buried number one-seeded First National Bank of the Western Division, 11-1, in Saturday's playoff clash and rolled to the No. 1 spot in the Eastern Division of the American League.

Clinton Malcolm maneuvered all six innings from the mound, fanning 10 batters and holding the opposition to two hits to collect the victory for Caproco. Mayfield and Howard shared mound duty for First National, with Howard suffering the loss after pitching 4 1/3 frustrating innings and marking up seven strikeouts.

Caproco jumped to a two-run lead in the first inning and brought in an additional two runs in the fourth. Second baseman Lester slammed a double to aid in a five- run fifth- inning rally. Catcher Griffin homered in the final inning, accounting for one of the final two markers.

Catcher Beach scored First National's only run in the fifth inning.

Tournament Entries Sought

PARMA — Tournament entries are still being sought for two giant tournaments scheduled at Parma in late August. Proceeds from both will go toward the Little League summer program.

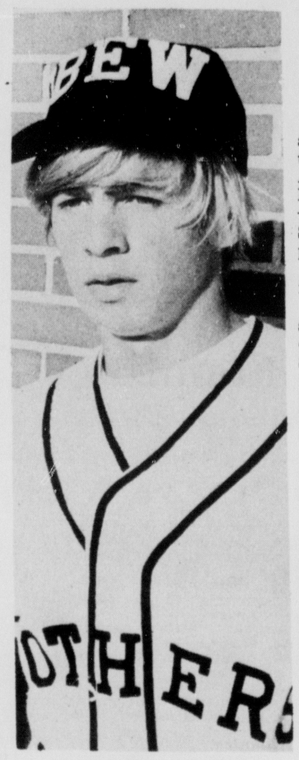
The first of the two events, a tournament for Southeast Missouri's top Little League teams, is scheduled for Aug. 14-21. This event will be an annual affair and will be known as the Southeast Missouri Little League Championships. Anyone wishing to enter a team in this event should contact Ron Jaynes at 357-4447 or 471-1137 before July 29.

Second event on the calendar at Parma is a slow- pitch softball tournament scheduled for Aug. 24-29. Persons desiring to enter a team in this event should also contact Jaynes. A small entry fee will be required for this tournament.

Alyea To Be Released

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced Sunday night plans to release utility player Brant Alyea, obtained in late May from the Oakland Athletics of the American League in exchange for infielder Marty Martinez.

Alyea, used mainly in pinchhitting roles, had collected only three hits in 19 times at bat for a .158 average.



Mitchell Walker

IBEW Pays Way

After a delay of six weeks, 16- year- old Mitchell Walker, left Sunday to attend the Art Gaines Baseball Camp in Hunnewell, Missouri. The delay was caused by a bone broken in the young athlete's right hand three days before he was to leave for camp.

The 5-foot-7, 145- pound, righthanded pitcher hurled for Coach N. P. McDaniel's high school squad last spring in his sophomore year. He compiled a glossy 3-0 record with a perfect 0.00 earned run average. The feats earned him a berth on the second-team, all- conference squad named in the SeMo Conference this spring. In addition to his fine pitching credentials, he batted near the .300 mark and manned the infield in a couple of games.

At the Gaines school, Mitchell will work at second base as well as pitching, and learn the fine arts of switch-hitting — quite a lot to learn in three weeks, but the school has a fine reputation for teaching young ballplayers.

Money for the trip is being furnished by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local One. I.B.E.W. sponsored the Babe Ruth League team for which Mitchell hurled in the 1971 season. His managers were Blake Adams, Joe Donovan and Jim Turner. Turner is vice president of the Local One Union, which is based in St. Louis.

Aaron Jolts Cards

ATLANTA (AP) — Hank Aaron has made it rough for the St. Louis Cardinals this season and Sunday was no different.

Hammerin' Hank drove in three runs, one of them with a tie-breaking single in the eighth inning, to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Cardinals Sunday.

Aaron, whose first five hits this season against the Cardinals were homers, collected five singles in the just completed series which the Braves took three games to one.

Aaron's first hit came in the Braves' first turn at bat after right-hander Rick Wise had walked leadoff man Dusty Baker and Ralph Garr singled and promptly stole his 19th base of the season.

Wise, 10-10, had a 2-2 count on Aaron when the Braves star singled up the middle to chase home both runners.

"It was the pitch I was looking for, but he made it good, down and away. It was a good pitch, a real good pitch," Aaron said.

Speaking of the other hit off Wise's fastball in the eighth, he said, "it was an obvious pitcher's mistake."

Phil Niekro maintained the 20 lead provided by Aaron by blanking the Cardinals on six hits until the eighth, when St. Louis came up with two runs to tie on a throwing error by third baseman Darrell Evans and Ted Simmons' run-scoring single.

Former Cardinal Joe Hoerner, 1-2, picked up the victory in relief.

College Stars Face Cards

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — A closed session in the afternoon against the College AllStars was on the docket today for the St. Louis Cardinals following two lengthy practices Sunday.

Coach Bob Hollway, grooming his National Football League team's pass offense and defense as well as its running game, sent the squad through a Sunday afternoon drill extending 15 minutes beyond its normal two-hour duration.

Hollway said the drill against the All-Stars would not include a scrimmage but would be patterned instead to offensive and defensive passing maneuvers.

"From the All-Stars' standpoint the practice will help them become familiar with pro formations," Hollway said. "For us, it will be good to be able to run our plays against someone other than ourselves."

The Cards' squad, decimated last week by player retirements and camp walkouts, stood at 69 players. Latest to leave was third-season guard Chuck Hutchison of Ohio State, who departed Saturday and announced his retirement.

Upholds Dismissal In Cervantes' Suit

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The federal appeals court Thursday upheld a lower court dismissal of St. Louis Mayer A. J. Cervantes' $12 million libel suit against Life Magazine.

The U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals said Cervantes has failed to produce evidence that Life questioned the accuracy of its own 1970 article linking the mayor to alleged organized crime figures.

Cervantes had alleged in the suit that Life recklessly disregarded the truth when it said his friend Anthony Sansome acted as "the mayor's liaison with the two mobs that run the St. Louis underworld."

The suit was dismissed earlier by U. S. District Judge James H. Meredith.

Appeals court judge Roy L. Stephenson wrote the decision for a three- judge panel. He said Cervantes had challenged the accuracy of only four of the 87-paragraph Life story of May 29, 1970, entitled "Investigative Report: St. Louis, the Mayor, the Mob and the Lawyer."

To challenge these paragraphs "the mayor was content to present little more than a series of self serving affidavits . . . which framed a minimal assault on the truth of the matters contained in the four paragraphs," Stephenson wrote.

Cervantes and his attorney did not comment on Thursday's action. They said they would decide after studying the opinion whether to ask for a rehearing in St. Louis or take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The article was written by Benny Walsh, a former reporter for the St. Louis Globe- Democrat.

Walsh "carefully collected and documented the data on the basis of which the article was written and published," Stephenson wrote.

CARUTHERSVILLE — Two civil suits have been continued to be reset in Pemiscot County Circuit Court after an attorney for the St. Louis Southwestern Railroad requested a continuance in the suits which stem from last fall's fatal train- truck crash which killed a Hayti truck driver.

The railroad, represented by Sikeston attorney David Blanton, is suing Jerry Reese of Portageville, owner of the gravel truck which was driven by the crash victim, for $50,000 and Reese has filed a counterclaim against the railroad, seeking $10,000 in damages.

The two suits stem from the Sept. 13, 1971 crash which killed J. L. Terrett Jr., Hayti, an employe of Reese's who died when the gravel truck he was driving smashed into the train at the Bakerville crossing between Kennett and Hayti on Highway 84 at 3 p.m. The collision resulted in the explosion of two saddle tanks of the truck and the derailment of two cars.

The railroad is contending that Reese should be held responsible for the damage to their train due to alleged negligence of the driver. In the countersuit, Reese, who is being represented by Kennett attorney James Bullard, contends the train should be held responsible for damage to his gravel truck because on the day in question the railroad personnel failed to give sufficient warning that the truck was going to collide with the train. Reese contends that due to the dangerous crossing, the train should have stopped when personnel saw the truck.

Judge William Ragland sustained the railroad's motion for a continuance. The two cases will be heard in a jury trial on a date to be set when both suits will be presented.

DunCo Schools Receive Grant Of $13,292

KENNETT — The Office of Education has awarded $13,292 for special programs for educationally disadvantaged children to school districts in Dunklin County.

Congressman Bill D. Burlison, in making the announcement, noted that the grants are authorized under Title I of the elementary and secondary act of 1965 and are part of a program providing special grants for urban and rural schools with the highest concentration of children from low- income families.

The Senath- Hornersville C-8 school district received $3,648, Clarkton C-4 received $1,614, Holcomb R-111 received $1,274, CAmpbell R-11 received $1,777, Malden R-1 received $3,372, and Southland C-9 received $1,607.

The funds will be used solely for programs and projects designed to meet the special educational needs of educationally deprived children in pre- school programs and in elementary schools, Congressman Burlison explained.

The grants may also be used in secondary schools in the same areas when the local and state education agencies determine that there is an urgent need for such programs in secondary schools, the Congressman added.

What's The Law?

Case Of The Sexy Trial

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

Ralph, involved in an automobile accident, sued to recover damages for an injury to a very private and personal part of his anatomy. And, while he wasn't the least bit concerned about an open trial on so delicate a matter, the judge was of the opinion that the testimony would be too sexy for the tender ears of the ladies. So, he excluded them from the jury.

"Now, wait a minute," objected Ralph. "A jury is supposed to consist of a cross -sex- tion of the community. I want females on the jury."

"Nothing doing," was the Judge's answer. "Where's your sense of propriety? If women were required to sit as jurors in a case such as this, they'd be in a state of constant embarrassment. The subject matter of your injury is not a proper subject for proper women."

Refusing to accept the judge's ruling, Ralph took the matter to a higher court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you exclude women from the sexy trial.

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that it is common knowledge that society no longer coddles women from the very real and sometimes brutal facts of life. Women, moreover, do not seek such oblivion. While it would have been proper to excuse any woman who found the subject matter of the case distasteful, concluded the judge, the trial judge acted unconstitutionally by excluding women as a group from the jury. (Based upon a 1970 United States Court of Appeals Decision)

Swallows Pride And $3,000 Diamond

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Shirley Martin of Vancouver swallowed more than her pride to hold onto a $3,000 windfall.

Last month Mrs. Martin bought $1 box of buttons from a local Salvation Army thrift store, and later found an odd-ball in the bunch.

She said she had the odd hunk of rock appraised at a jewelry store, which said it was a large, uncut diamond.

While at the jewelry store, she said, two Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers asked her to come outside.

"But the jeweler said nobody could take it from me so I made sure of that," she said. "I swallowed it quick." Police checks later turned up nothing on the diamond.

Mrs. Martin said she recovered the diamond two days later at home and took it back to the jeweler, who bought it from her for $3,000

MONA AND VENUS WHO?

WELLINGTON (AP) — The lively wit of New Zealand's Prime Minister, John R. Marshall, was surpassed here by a bland Frenchman at an official luncheon to a visiting French Parliamentary delegation.

Departing from his prepared speechnotes, the Prime Minister remarked that, "whenever I visit France I call on two girl friends . . . Mona Lisa and Venus de Milo."

Poker-faced, the French interpretor did a literal translation until the end of the sentence when he stopped, turned to the prime minister and said: "I'm sorry sir, I did not get the names of the young ladies."
